Prices Have Soared In 10 Years...Those Good Old Days Are Gone

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

Ah, for the good old days when houses were rented at $100 a month, when half a gallon of milk cost 39 cents, when almost any cut of meat had a price tag of less than a dollar a pound.

The "good old days" are gone, but they haven't been gone nearly as long as some might think. In the past ten years prices have soared to such an extent that some of life's necessities cost two or even three times as much as they did in 1963 in Ulster County.

However bleak such a prospect might seem, the price situation is somewhat mitigated by a substantial increase in wages during the same period.

Price increases are most dramatic in the area of housing. Since 1963 the average price of houses for sale in the county has nearly doubled. Approximately 130 "house for sale" listings in The Freeman during the early months of 1963 showed an average asking price of around $16,800, as compared with a $32,600 figure today.

One 1963 listing told of a 12 room stone colonial in Hurley on 35 acres which was offered at $29,000. Now the land alone could probably not be had for that figure. In fact, one source has told The Freeman that land prices may have increased as much as tenfold in areas where development has been present since 1963.

Advertised house rentals show that prices have more than doubled from around a $100-a-month figure in 1963 to over $200 now. And the cost of apartment rental has nearly tripled from less than $65 a month ten years ago to nearly $180 a month average now.

As every housewife knows, food prices keep going up. But some might be surprised at the ten-year jump.

A half gallon of milk could have been purchased for 39 cents in 1963. Now milk goes for more than 50 cents a half gallon, and, depending on the store where bought, is approaching 60 cents.

Special

Food prices of course vary from store to store, but some comparative meat prices in 1963 and 1973 are as follows: ground beef has gone up from 39 cents a pound to over 80 cents a pound; Porterhouse steak which could have been bought for 85 cents a pound ten years ago now hovers near or above $1.50 a pound; chuck steak or roast might have cost less than 50 cents a pound in 1963, and might now cost more than $1.00 a pound.

In the area of vegetables, celery which was nine cents a bunch now goes for 29 cents a bunch. Onions could have been purchased for 29 cents for three pounds in 1963; 89 cents is the figure in some stores now.

But price increases aren't confined to food and housing. The cost of clothing has jumped, too. One arca clothier explained that sport coats which were $35 in 1963 are $65 now, suits which were $60 are now $100, and ties which were $1.50 and $2.50 are now as high as $5.50 and $6.50.

Cars may have once been considered a luxury, but few would deny that they are a necessity now. Nevertheless, price increases may put them in the luxury bracket for some people.

Information gained from some area dealers shows that one lower-price model which cost approximately $1,850 in 1963 has risen to nearly $2,250 now. A higher-priced make and model has risen nearly $1,000 in cost to a $3,900 base price now.

However, not everything costs more today than it did in 1963. Major appliances have actually gone down in price in many instances despite product improvements.

One comparison shows that one model refrigerator cost $425 ten years ago and a comparable but larger refrigerator costs $329 today. Some color television sets cost almost half as much today as they did in 1963. The major reason for such decreases is said to be mass production techniques.

But as prices in general have risen, so have wages. The minimum wage in 1963 was $1.00 or $1.15 depending on the type of work. Now it is $1.85 per hour.

In several areas of work, wages have doubled for comparable jobs during the ten years. In other areas, wage increases have not been as substantial.

And along with wage and price increases, there have been the taxes . . . everyone knows about them.

THE YEARS HAVE SHOWN A BIG RISE IN FOOD COSTS.

One American Among 104 Dead

Arabs Seeking Vengeance

TEL AVIV (UPI) — The Arab world seethed with calls today for vengeance against Israel, accusing the Israelis of "cold-blooded murder" in the shooting down of a civilian Libyan airliner carrying more than 100 persons over the Israeli-held Sinai peninsula.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman disclosed that one of the people killed in the downing incident was an American. He was identified as Wladislaw Borysoglebski, a Pole who emigrated to the United States and became a naturalized citizen in Chicago in July, 1972.

Military officials said 104 persons died in the Wednesday disaster, the first such case in aviation since 1955 when Bulgaria shot down an Israeli civilian airliner.

Seven other persons survived and were listed in satisfactory condition today.

Israel today began turning over to Egypt the bodies of the victims.

The Israeli military command said the operation, carried out under the flags of the Red Cross at a Suez Canal crossing point near the site of the disaster, began about one hour late.

Red, black and yellow boats of the Egyptian Suez Canal Authority crossed the canal at Kantara, about 30 miles from where the Boeing 727 went down Wednesday, to pick up the bodies.

The bodies were placed in plain pine coffins and loaded onto the boats by Israeli soldiers for the 150-yard trip back across the canal to Egypt.

Israeli authorities insisted their fighter pilots acted properly in shooting down the Boeing 727 and said the pilot deliberately ignored orders to land. A tape recording of the pilot's last conversation, played in Cairo, indicated he thought he was flying over Egyptian territory.

One of Prime Minister Golda Meir's closest aides called the shooting a tragedy that stunned Israel. A Tel Aviv newspaper said the shooting meant the United States will delay an immediate approval of Israel's request for more F4 Phantom jets.

Military officials said Thursday it was Phantoms that shot down the airliner 12 miles east of the Suez Canal after trying unsuccessfully to make it land. Among the Arab world reactions was an announcement by moderate King Hassan II of Morocco that he will send troops to Syria to join the battle against Israel for the first time.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahrar called on Arab guerrillas to strike Israeli targets around the world in revenge and Arab leaders said they were horrified and outraged by what some of them called "cold blooded murder."

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said there was no need for a domestic inquiry into the shooting, but said Israel would help international authorities who want to investigate it.

At the United Nations, the International Civil Aviation Authority announced it will investigate the shooting next week. Libya, Egypt and Israel are members of the organization.

Dayan said authorities did not find the so-called "black box" flight recorder in the airliner's charred and splintered wreckage. He said he hoped the Libyan co-pilot, identified as El Khadiffa Yunis Aid el Mahdi, recovers so he can tell Israeli officials why the airliner did not land as ordered.

"Let's wait for the co-pilot to recover," Dayan told a nationally broadcast news conference. "He was there and knows what happened."

Until he does recover, Dayan said, "It's all a puzzle."

Mideast Has Nixon Priority

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon met today with Egyptian foreign affairs advisor Mohammed Hafez Ismail to discuss Middle East peace prospects, made all the more uncertain by Israel's downing of a Libyan airliner.

Before the 1 a.m. EST meeting with the Egyptian official, Nixon held a working breakfast with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Rogers flies to Paris Saturday for 12-nation talks on Vietnam and bilateral talks with Chinese Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei.

Ismail's visit is the first in recent years by a top Egyptian official. Nixon has set out to try to use the influence of the White House to bring Middle East peace. Nixon has said that, with Vietnam settled, he is giving the Middle East "No. 1 priority."

The talks also may deal with the future of U.S.-Egyptian relations. The United States has had no diplomatic relations with Egypt since 1967 when Cairo broke them off in the Arab-Israeli war.

The fact that Nixon's meeting with Ismail was not canceled in the furor over Israel's shooting down of a Libyan 707 commercial airliner with a loss of more than 100 lives led some observers to conclude that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat may strongly want to explore Middle East peace prospects.

The United States moved quickly to try to save the situation, with Nixon sending condolences to Sadat and to the Libyan government and with Rogers phoning Ismail in London to urge that the talks go on.

U.S. sources said Nixon's Middle East initiative was basically unshaken. One high U.S. source commented that a key factor in the Middle East picture has improved over the years. The Soviet Union, this official believes, now is working to try to stabilize the Middle East. For many years the United States considered the Russians were trying to egg on former Egyptian President Gamal Abdul Nasser and inflame the area to their own ends.

Ismail recently met with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, who is to meet with President Nixon later this year. Nixon has recently talked with Jordan's King Hussein and meets next Thursday with Israel's Prime Minister, Golda Meir.

Rogers' Paris talks with the Chinese official will take up $250 million in private U.S. claims against China and $78 million in blocked Chinese assets in the United States.

The President planned to helicopter to Camp David late this afternoon. Before departing, he had appointments with Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst and U.S. Ambassador to Italy John A. Volpe. He also planned to review Vietnam veterans with James Oates, chairman of Jobs for Veterans, Inc. and other National Alliance of Businessmen officials.

Cementon Eyed for MTA Power Plant

By WADE BURKHART

CEMENTON

A site about one mile north of Cementon, in Greene County, is one of three at which the New York State Power Authority will conduct meteorological and air quality conditions studies as possible sites for power plants, according to a statement released by the Power Authority Thursday.

The Power Authority is looking for sites for a power plant to serve the Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Power Authority Chairman James A. Fitzpatrick said studies of water quality, aquatic ecology, and terrestrial ecology would also be conducted.

The other sites where detailed environmental monitoring will be conducted are about two miles west of Athens, in Greene County, and about three miles northwest of Wappingers Falls, in Dutchess County.

The Power Authority statement said the environmental studies at the specified locations did not rule out the possibility of situating the plant elsewhere. However, according to the statement, a potential site at Ossining, previously mentioned as a possible location, is not being considered by the Power Authority for the MTA plant. The statement gave no reason for the Ossining site's rejection.

An entirely separate state authority, the Atomic and Space Development Authority, will be conducting similar tests in the near future at a site in the Town of Lloyd.

The Lloyd site is being studied by ASDA as a possible location for two or more nuclear power plants. The nature of the power plant the Power Authority wants to build has not been specified.

Today, ASDA officials said they were "pleased" that the three sites selected by the Power Authority were chosen from a group of seven potential sites in the Mid-Hudson Valley that had been under evaluation since 1971. John Graham, a signed the Power Authority spokesman for ASDA, said the responsibility for building "base load generating facilities" to these sites was a site in Lloyd.

Authority met last June to discuss ASDA's evaluation of the seven sites.

ASDA's function, in part, is to "harmonize" the state's power needs with environmental and community concerns.

According to the Power Authority statement, contacts are being made with officials and affected property owners in the areas where the monitoring will be conducted.

The State Legislature last May approved a bill proposed by Governor Rockefeller that as-chosen from a group of more than 30, according to the Power Authority statement. One of these sites was a site in Lloyd.

Hudson Cement's Rebate Is $90,000

By HUGH REYNOLDS

CATSKILL

Supreme Court Justice George L. Cobb has ordered the City of Kingston and the City Schools Consolidated Board of Education to return some $90,000 in

As a result of those assessments paid by the Strelene Cement reductions, the city will Realty Corp., owners of Hudson have to remit a total of $47,615 Cement, for overassessment by the Strelene Realty while the city for the years 1967-71 the school board will have inclusive.

The city, acting on behalf of the school board, was represented by Hubert A. Richter and Werbalowsky while Strelene Realty was represented by Abraham Streifer and Barnovitz. The school court order was dated Feb. 17, 1969 the city must pay back assessment reduction of $138,000 $9,647 while the school board for the years 1967, 1968 and 1969 has to pay $7,901. The figures and $137,500 reduction for the years 1970 and 1971. The cement plant at 349-801 North Street had been assessed for $1,120,000 in 1967 through 1969, was raised to $1,163,000 in 1970 and raised again to $1,192,700 in 1971.

The figures and $137,500 reduction for the board: $9,150; 1971, city: $8,215. Assessor Walter Tatarzewski indicated that he would continue to fight the case, Judge Cobb's ruling notwithstanding. "We figure that the cement plant is worth anywhere from $20 million to $40 million," Tatarzewski said. "I intend to ask the State Board of Assessment and Equalization for a special appraisal on that property."

Tatarzewski, in fact, had raised the assessment on Hudson Cement, at the order of the City Assessment Board of Review, from $1,192,700 in 1971 to $4 million last year. That assessment would also appear to be in jeopardy in the wake of Judge Cobb's ruling on previous assessments. The judge, by establishing an assessment of $1,055,200 for 1971, is fixing a full value on that property of some $2.9 million, figuring the city assesses at 36 per cent of full value. Tatarzewski, on the other hand, by establishing a $4 million assessment for 1972, is figuring the full value of the property at about $11.1 million. Strelene Realty has already put the city on notice that it intends to fight that latest assessment increase.

The city will pay the back taxes owed to Strelene Realty out of a special $120,000 account set up in this year's budget for just such an eventuality since the city has more than 20 "certiorari proceedings" pending against it.

Louis A. Salmann, superintendent of schools, said the school district would pay its share from a contingency fund.

Weather Vane Thefts ... Third Arrest Made

Information reportedly given by two suspects already in custody in connection with a series of weather vane thefts has resulted in the arrest of a Vermont youth for one of the thefts, Ellenville police said today.

Kevin Stillwell, 14, of Cavendish, Vt., was picked up by Stony Point State Police Thursday at the home of relatives in Rockland County on a warrant obtained by Detective George Sheeley of the Ellenville Village Police

County Murder Trial... Cross Examination Relentless

By JOHN POWERS
and
MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON — Robert Hedrick, the prosecution's material witness in the County Court murder trial of William Edward Hill, several times denied allegations by defense attorney Joshua Koplovitz that he and not Hill—murdered Mrs. Alice Upright in Cottekill on Aug. 15, during testimony Thursday.

Under relentless cross examination by the defense attorney, Hedrick made repeated changes in his earlier testimony, and conceded that statements he made to state police shortly after the murder may have been "inaccurate" because he was "under pressure" at the time.

Hedrick, Hill's stepbrother, was on the stand for more than three hours Thursday. For most of that time, Koplovitz fired question after question at the 18-year-old witness, until Hedrick finally shouted, "I'm not answering any more questions. You're trying to trap me."

Hedrick, who testified Wednesday that Hill admitted to him that he "beat" the 67-year-old Mrs. Upright on the night of Aug. 15, testified Thursday that he and Hill were "bumming around" in Hill's car for several days prior to Aug. 15.

But Hedrick testified that he could not remember exactly what they did during that time or where they slept on the night preceding the murder.

Hedrick testified Wednesday that Hill's car broke down while they were driving along Cottekill Road on the night of Aug. 15. He testified that he stayed with the car while his stepbrother (the defendant) went looking for a new battery. When Hill returned, several hours later, Hedrick testified, his hands, shirt and pants were splattered with blood. Hedrick said Hill later confessed to the murder.

Under cross examination Thursday, Hedrick said he wasn't sure exactly what time Hill left the car in search of a battery, or what time he returned later that night. Hedrick said he spent part of the time sleeping in the car.

Despite continued questioning by Koplovitz, Hedrick maintained that Hill's hands, pants and shirt were splattered with blood when he returned carrying the battery. He refused to agree with Koplovitz' suggestion that it was too dark to see blood stains on the purple shirt and blue pants that Hill was supposedly wearing at the time.

"That blood wasn't on your clothes. And he said he 'didn't own shirt and pants, was it?'" that the car he and Hill left station the day he was arrested by Koplovitz, he admitted that he had been was. He said he wasn't sure if he was carrying when he re-Hedrick said "someone" told Elmira policeman and State turned with the battery Aug. 15, him he couldn't have seen the Police from the Horseheads barracks near Elmira were following a recess for lunch, gloves at the trooper barracks. Barracks near Elmira were following a recess for lunch, gloves at the trooper barracks. Barracks near Elmira were following a recess for lunch, gloves at the trooper barracks.

Hedrick then testified that once Hill had installed the stolen battery in the car, they drove down Cottekill Road, past the SRS home to Route 32, and then to Plattekill. Hedrick said he fell asleep a few minutes after they left.

"You mean to say that someone told you he had just murdered a woman, and you fell asleep a few minutes later?" asked Koplovitz. Hedrick responded, "I didn't want to get involved, so I didn't pay no mind to it."

Hedrick then testified that he remained asleep until the car reached the Plattekill town line. Under questioning by Koplovitz, Hedrick said he didn't wake up even when Hill supposedly stopped the car to change his clothes. And he said he "didn't

Washington Dinner Message 'Stir What You Got'

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON — With homey East Texas humor and wry wit, "Senator" Bob Murphey urged the capacity audience at the 48th annual Washington Day Dinner to "Stir What You Got."

The event, Thursday night, sponsored by the Old Dutch Church Men's Club, was attended by civic and political leaders of the community who heard the guest speaker extol the virtues of using their god-given talents to the fullest.

Murphey, a country lawyer with "country advice" said that just because "we live in 'trying times' that is no reason to quit trying. He urged that 'people should not be content to 'live under the circumstances' but should rise above the circumstances. Time should not be wasted in being a jealous 'wisher' but rather in using the talent and ability which is the individual's own—'Stir What You Got.'

Dipping into the colloquial wit of his native East Texas, Murphey spiced his talk with apt illustrations, much to the delight of his audience.

Underlying the theme of his talk were the basic principles of being prepared, trying harder and giving of one's self in all areas of life—at home, and in the community as well as in one's trade or profession.

Murphey commended his reception in "historic Kingston" and commented favorably on the menu of roast beef which was a welcome change from the "chicken circuit" so familiar to traveling speakers.

A resident of the Piney Woods

section of East Texas, Murphey has the accent and droll country humor of the region but his message is one that knows no state boundaries.

He has had a varied and colorful background as a practicing lawyer, ranch hand, sergeant-at-arms of the Texas House of Representatives, fire chief and war-time Merchant Marine officer.

The dinner, one of the oldest consecutive events, of its type in the Kingston area, is in honor of George Washington's Birthday and in keeping with the occasion, the speaker had a tall Texas tale. According to his account George Washington really lived in Texas and what he cut down and could not tell a lie about was a cactus plant.

This prompted the Washington family's move to the "great state of Virginia" because "you can't stay in Texas and not tell a lie."

Arrangements for the dinner were once again under the direction of Clair S. Sheaffer who also served as master of ceremonies. Stuart S. Randall, president of the Old Dutch Men's Club, extended the welcome and Mayor Francis R. Koening was a guest speaker.

Others on the committee were Robert E. Haines, tickets; Randall and Jack Haulenbeck, dinner arrangements and Albert Harrison, sound technician. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Burgher were chefs and assisted in the serving by women of the church, under the direction of Mrs. Arthur Oudemool.

During the pre-program festivities, Harry D. Frey was cited as a charter member of the Men's Club who has attended every Washington Day dinner during the history of the event.

Group singing was directed by Jack Hill with dinner music by Mrs. Edna Rignall.

Nyack School Bus Tragedy ... 'Warnings Ignored'

NEW CITY, N.Y. (AP) — A total of seven teen-age witnesses have testified that school bus driver Joseph Larkin approached a railroad crossing without stopping the bus, despite shouted warnings that a train was coming.

Five Nyack High School students testified Thursday at Larkin's trial in Rockland County Court on charges of criminally negligent homicide in the bus-train collision last March that claimed five lives.

Two other students testified Wednesday with substantially the same story—that Larkin, 35, neither stopped the bus nor opened the door in spite of shouts of "Stop! Train!" and "Train Coming!"

Among the young witnesses were a boy who suffered a broken nose and a punctured tongue and a girl who was hospitalized for 10 days after the accident with internal injuries and a skull fracture.

Several of the witnesses said their families were suing Larkin for damages. The driver was a moonlighting fireman who was expected for duty in upper Manhattan the morning of the accident.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, FEBRUARY 23, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The false arrest of my associate Les Whitten, we have now learned, was used as a pretext for launching a massive FBI investigation into our operations.

Some excuse was needed to get a court order to pry into our telephone calls around the world. This was provided by Whitten's arrest on January 31 while he was reporting on the return of stolen Indian documents to the government. A grand jury agreed this was no crime and refused to indict him.

But meanwhile, the FBI, pretending to investigate Whitten's "crime," secured a court order and served it on American Telephone and Telegraph. FBI agents immediately began checking into our phone calls, digging into our news sources and using all the powers of government to find out how we get information that the government doesn't want published.

The court order was granted on February 2, two days after Whitten's arrest. Its stipulated purpose was to investigate the theft of the Indian documents. Yet the FBI subpoenaed our telephone records back to July, four months before the documents were stolen.

When I appeared before the grand jury, the prosecutor emphasized that I was not under investigation. He declared in front of the grand jury that I was not in any way involved in the alleged "crime." Yet the FBI also subpoenaed the telephone records of my home as well as the office.

Once the FBI got its hands on our telephone records, the agents seemed less interested in our Indian sources than in our sources inside the government. They tried to find out which B-52 crewmen, for example, had talked to us by overseas phone about the failure to change flight patterns during the first three days of the Hanoi bombing last December. This failure, the pilots alleged, cost lives.

The G-men traced phone calls in an effort to locate the sources of our information about the Watergate scandal, secret drug-smuggling reports and other stories. Most of all, the agents seemed eager to find out who has been slipping us confidential excerpts from the FBI's own files.

All of this has nothing to do, of course, with the Indian documents, which the FBI used as the excuse for getting our telephone records. This was a flagrant violation of our rights under the First Amendment. Obviously, freedom of the press is a mockery if the FBI can block our access to the news by investigating and harassing our news sources.

This is just another example of how the FBI, under Pat Gray, has been used as a political police force.

Footnote: We invited the FBI to comment, but a spokesman had no response.

WASHINGTON WHIRL

Military Snooping — To stop military spying on civilians and other abuses, former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird announced two years ago that all personnel investigations, counter-intelligence and criminal investigations would be brought under Washington control. This would take the sleuths out from under the domination of the local generals and admirals who no longer would be able to quash investigations of their own misdeeds. The big brass raised such a howl, however, that the reforms promised two years ago still haven't gone into effect.

Army Credit — House Banking Chairman Wright Patman has asked government auditors to investigate the Army's credit schemes. He is particularly critical of the charge system used by Army officers clubs around the world. The Army advertised for a firm to handle the credit, then chose the Bank of America for a tryout. This was restricted to the Sixth Army in California. It was a fiasco, yet a permanent, Army-wide contract was granted to the Bank of America.

The cost of the operation promptly went up about 20 cents per officer each month, but the proceeds to the Army Central Welfare Fund went down. A bank spokesman in San Francisco at first denied that its Army credit system had failed but finally acknowledged: "There may be truth in what you're saying."

Brass Ring — The brass ring, good for a free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, is awarded today to James B. Jenkins. As a custodian at Washington's St. Elizabeth's hospital, he befriended a lonely, hostile, mentally disturbed patient. For 18 years, Jenkins has paid the patient out of his own pocket to help with small chores around the hospital. The friendship and the activity completely changed the patient's attitude. We found him happy, optimistic and extremely fond of his friend James B. Jenkins.

Washington Wit — Satirist Mark Russell tells us he has taken off the POW bracelet he was wearing for Les Whitten. He is anxious to see the ballyhooed movie, "The Last Tango in Paris." When he first heard of it, he thought "it was about Henry Kissinger." Russell also has some advice for the oil industry, which is worried about bringing down Alaskan oil. "How about busing it down?" he suggests.

Taxpayers' Nest Egg

About a year ago, the Treasury issued new withholding tables that deducted much more than many taxpayers were required to pay through payroll withholding. Later, when the quirk was discovered and taxpayers were offered a chance to correct it, many decided they liked the idea of a refund when they file their tax return on or about April 15. The Internal Revenue Service estimates the total nest eggs thus accumulated will come to $22 billion this year.

Last year, taxpayers overpaid $14 billion in income taxes for much the same reason. It was to correct that situation that IRS made up the new tables, which instead made this year's withholding refunds even bigger.

Of course, some of the withholding refund will be applied toward non-wage income received by the taxpayers, such as dividend, interest and capital gains. So the actual refund total may well drop below $22 billion. But it will help these taxpayers pay the extra tax their non-wage earnings will owe. Either way, the taxpayer is the gainer.

Taxpayers who are now interested in collecting their refunds are urged to file early. This far ahead of final tax return filing time means refunds are made in four to six weeks. There is no good reason to wait now, as the refunds do not carry interest, and the taxpayer can spend his money or save it now.

IRS offices estimate that one in four returns being filed so far were due for refunds. Refunds have been averaging around $300 each. For most taxpayers, that will make up for the higher Social Security taxes withheld this year.

However, if taxpayers decide they will take their money in full each week hereafter, they need only ask their employers for the proper forms and fill them out to have the correct withholding put aside and they will not get any refunds.

Pact With Cuba

Announcement of the agreement between the United States and Cuba on a plan designed to curb hijacking of aircraft is welcome news indeed.

The past few weeks happily have been free of any such crimes but the threat remains as evidenced by the stationing of armed guards at major airports, and the intensified scrutiny to which passengers are subjected.

It is possible that the presence of additional security men at the gates and the closer surveillance have discouraged hijacking attempts but neither plan is foolproof. For that matter, the agreement between the two nations is no guarantee that a desperate or deranged individual still won't make an attempt. But it certainly will help.

Of all the skyjackings undertaken in recent years, Cuba was the principal destination, with more than 100 attempts recorded. The most recent one took place in November when a Southern Airways jet was seized by a trio who flew to Canada and then to various points in the United States before landing in Cuba after a 29-hour ordeal.

It is believed that this bizarre flight precipitated the negotiations between the two countries after several abortive attempts.

The agreement, in a sense, represents a diplomatic triumph for the United States because while it reportedly provides for punishment or extradition of hijackers, this country still will give sanctuary to what it terms "legitimate political refugees" who manage to make their escape to Florida.

This has been one of the obstacles toward reaching a pact in previous negotiations.

Washington also has made clear that the first meaningful talks between the two sides in many years do not necessarily mean a broader improvement in Cuban-American relations.

White House aides have pointed to President Nixon's published stand that there will be no change in our attitude toward Cuba until Castro changes his policy toward the United States and Latin America.

Nevertheless an important step has been taken toward minimizing the menace in the skies. If other nations now can get together and deny sanctuary to the skyjacks, this type of crime can be vastly reduced.

NEW YORK — Law-and-order Rep. Mario Biaggi's accelerating campaign for mayor of New York has now begun to panic the liberal establishment because of meetings such as one held in the Bronx Congressman's cramped midtown Manhattan office recently.

A Biaggi aide, wearing a Jewish prayer cap, ushered in an orthodox rabbi from Flatbush. The rabbi mournfully explained that "they" were planning a new school near his synagogue with black students bused in to attend it. That, said the rabbi, would break up the Jewish community. But when he left the Congressman, he was smiling, telling everyone that Biaggi understood the problem and would have heavy, heavy support from his congregation.

Such incidents have erased the certainty of the liberals, that the humanitarian tradition of the city's Jewish voters would reject ex-police lieutenant Biaggi. Biaggi is making so much headway among lower middle-class Jewish voters that he has become the early favorite for the May Democratic primary.

"It's really terrifying," one highly placed New York Democrat told us. "I mean Biaggi could actually win." His terror stems not only from Biaggi's ideological positions (pro-police and anti-busing) but also Biaggi's threat to forces politically dominant in this city for generations.

Biaggi, a much-decorated, 23-year police veteran who entered politics in 1968, is the much-feared Enemy No. 1 to the various establishments who share power here: reformers, Democratic machines, city hall, civil rights and peace activists.

His basic support comes from lower-income white ethnics, mostly Italians and Irish alienated from the eight-year liberal administration of Mayor John V. Lindsay. One wide-eyed liberal politician who recently watched Biaggi address a rally of such ethnics told us: "It was like Eleanor Roosevelt in a synagogue." The genuine enthusiasm at a $10-a-head fund-raiser (3,500 attending) in the New York Coliseum Feb. 9 impressed professional politicians.

But opposition from white ethnics was not enough in 1969 to stop the reelection of Lindsay, who ended with grudging Jewish support. This time, however, the overriding issue of street crime poisons a campaign by Lindsay or any other liberal.

Indeed, Biaggi's principal opponent (now ahead slightly in the polls) is not one of the half-dozen liberal hopefuls but an old-line Democratic regular: city controller Abraham D. Beame, who is promising not safe streets but unaccustomed frugality at city hall. Whether that is potent enough to hold the Jewish vote is increasingly doubtful. "Beame's a bookkeeper," says Biaggi. "I can hire my own bookkeeper."

Although Beame has Brooklyn regular Democratic leader Meade Esposito and may end up with Bronx leader Pat Cunningham, the party machines are shadows of their former selves and notoriously unsuccessful in recent Democratic primaries. Beame's closest advisors know they cannot rely on the regulars; they only hope Jewish voters prefer the Jewish bookkeeper to the Italian supercop.

Lacking confidence in their choice, entrenched Democratic powers are grasping at straws. There was briefly talk — never grounded in reality — about liberal Republican Sen. Jacob Javits becoming the fusion candidate for mayor. Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who really wants only to block a third term for his arch-enemy Lindsay, is eagerly eyed as a sponsor of somebody — maybe Beame — to stop

In despair, liberals continue to drop ugly hints about blots in Biaggi's police record but without offering proof. Experienced politicians believe their never-proven charges will actually solidify Biaggi's constituency without multiplying his enemies.

Moreover, Biaggi is no right-wing ideologue innately offensive to New York's working class. He knows the tough talk by that other cop-turned-politician, Mayor Frank Rizzo of Philadelphia, would boomerang in New York. He votes with the left in Congress on the Vietnam war, the supersonic transport (SST) and child day-care centers (infuriating the state Conservative party, which endorsed him for Congress).

But the primordial issue in the great cities is street crime, and on this Biaggi has mass support against the establishment. Whereas dominant liberals privately bemoan police commissioner Patrick Murphy's decision permitting riot guns in patrol cars, Biaggi publicly berates Murphy for losing the patrolmen's confidence. Taking that line, Biaggi may well add Jewish voters to his white ethnic base in sufficient numbers to topple the old establishment and thereby stun the nation.

From the Ruins Rose Hitler

The German Reichstag burned down 40 years ago this month. Unto itself, it appears to be a footnote to history, but it wasn't. It was Hitler's hinge of history. Without that fire, he might have remained a minority chancellor, a hysterical Austrian emigre shrieking venom from balconies.

He needed that fire badly. Whether it was ignited by Reichstag president Hermann Goerring's minions, using a tunnel from his state house to the capitol of Germany, or whether it was set by a demented Dutch Communist, Marinus van der Lubbe, is of small consequence.

Van der Lubbe was tried and beheaded. In the pre-dawn hours, Adolf Hitler watched the huge orange flames licking the cold stone of the Reichstag. He wore a big smile.

The fire brigades of Berlin clanged past the Berlin Zoo; some raced through the Tiergarten; others came through Brandenburg Tor.

They were helpless. The great broad building was gutted and blackened. It was as though the domed capitol of the United States had burned down; or the Houses of Parliament in Great Britain. The result was national anger and frustration.

Four months before the conflagration, Hitler's National Socialist Party had received a setback in German elections. He had preached to Germany that their enemies were the Communists, and behind the scenes, the monied Jews of Germany.

Only the unformed and the failures believed him. Hitler appeared to have reached a political dead end. He prevailed upon diplomat Franz von Papen to beg the aged doddering President Paul von Hindenburg to name him chancellor of the nation, on the grounds that Hitler was the only man able to form a coalition government of Nazis, conservatives and rightists.

The old man balked, then capitulated. On January 30, 1933, Adolf Hitler became chancellor. Standing on an insecure coalition, he was shaky. Again he preached against Bolshevism and Jews.

The effete Berliners thought he looked like Charlie Chaplin. Hitler was in a powerless limbo with less than 40 per cent of the German vote. He needed violence, a sense of national catastrophe, to become the unchallenged leader. The Reichstag fire occurred 28 days after Hindenburg appointed him chancellor.

The arrest of blubbering simpleton, Marinus van der Lubbe, set the stage for focusing German anger. He was a Communist. He was a foreigner. He babbled his guilt over and over. The fire, Hitler shouted, was the first Red plot to control Germany.

He demanded new elections a week after the fire, and received 44 per cent of the vote. It was another disappointment, but, with the support of the Wehrmacht and the great German industrialists, Hitler had sufficient power to demand absolute control.

In successive steps, he disbanded the Reichstag and sent its elected members home, took over sole command of the nation as Fuehrer, and, in time, appointed himself Reich president as well as chancellor; lastly, commander-in-chief of all the armed forces.

He whipped 80,000,000 people into line, and they adored him. Hitler waited a year and a half more before risking another election. By that time, his Storm Troopers and secret police had arrested and tortured Jews and malcontents, and Germany had been secured. Out of 43,529,710 votes cast, 90 per cent were for Adolf Hitler.

This is ironic because, in visits, to Berlin, Frankfurt and Heidelberg, I never met a middle-aged German who voted for Hitler. All professed to be "secret anti-Nazis." Living in fear. However, I remember crowds of 250,000 cheering Hitler in Nuremberg and Berlin when he told them that discipline, anti-Judaism, and possibly war were going to take Germany to her rightful place in the sun.

In retrospect, it is natural that a megalomaniac, having secured supreme internal power, should turn outward for more, using the strength of the first to gain the second. The demand for a German corridor through Poland led to World War II. This was another form of fire. Twenty million died in it. Five million Jews and two million Slavs were slain in concentration camps.

The original Reichstag fire was most important to Adolf Hitler. Then, too, so were the two gallons of gasoline poured over his body in the Reichschancellery garden in April 1945. The march was 12 years too late...

C-H Dividend

The Board of Directors of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, at the monthly meeting held at the company's South Road Office, Poughkeepsie, today declared a dividend of $1.08 per share on its 4.35 per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.12 per share on the company's 4 per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.18 per share on its 4.75 per cent cumulative preferred stock; $1.24 per share on its 4.96 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and $1.93 per share on its 7.72 per cent cumulative preferred stock. The Board of directors also declared a dividend of $1.5294 per share on its 7.44 per cent cumulative preferred stock, which represents the accrued dividend from Jan. 17, 1973, the date of issuance. Each of these dividends will be payable April 2, 1973 to holders of record March 9, 1973.

Price of Gold Takes Phenominal Jump

LONDON (UPI) — A phenomenal jump in the price of gold Thursday overshadowed the nagging crisis in paper money around the world and raised the price of the precious yellow metal to a record $86.50 an ounce.

It more than doubled the new official U.S. price of $42.22. At one stage on the pace-setting London market, gold touched $90 briefly.

The official world price had never exceeded $80, the so-called psychological price barrier, until an extraordinary $100 million in all of the European markets was purchased with unwanted dollars. Officials reacted by increasing the gold price by as much as $14.12 an ounce.

Much of the gold—with sales estimated at between $50 and $100 million in all of the European markets—was purchased with unwanted dollars. The result was a weakening of the dollar against other major currencies.

Gold trading figures normally are not published, but financial experts said the normal amount of dealings a day is between $5 and $10 million. Americans are forbidden by law from buying, selling or possessing gold except when the metal is used for manufacturing of medical purposes.

Gold dealers attributed the soaring price to persistent and increasing doubts about paper money and fears among speculators that a leftwing government may come to power in France, which holds elections early next month.

Winthrop Rockefeller... A 'Nonconformist' Cremated

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Winthrop Rockefeller's body was cremated today and the ashes returned to Arkansas, where the "nonconformist Rockefeller" was governor for two terms and invested millions of his fortune. Rockefeller, one of the wealthy grandsons of oil tycoon John D. Rockefeller, died of cancer Thursday. He was 60. Funeral arrangements will be announced later. His family said. His body was cremated in San Bernardino, Calif., and the ashes returned to Arkansas. Gov. Dale Bumpers, the man who turned back Rockefeller's bid for a third term in 1970, declared today an official day of mourning in Arkansas. He said Rockefeller's public service marked a "watershed in the history of Arkansas." Among those surviving are his brothers—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York; John D. Rockefeller III, head of the Rockefeller Foundation; resort developer Laurance Rockefeller, and New York banker David Rockefeller.

"Win was basically a nonconformist. He was rebellious against the stereotype of what we are," his brother David once said. The only Rockefeller brother to drop out of college, Winthrop left Yale and went to Texas where he worked in the oil fields for 75 cents an hour and lived in a $4.50 a week room. Growing restless, he served as a junior executive in several family-owned businesses and became the closest thing the Rockefellers had to a playboy. But that soon bored him and he joined the Army as a private a year before Pearl Harbor.

He became a lieutenant colonel and was a combat commander in the South Pacific. He won a Purple Heart when a Japanese kamikaze plane scored a direct hit on a troop transport ship and he was the only Army officer to survive. On Valentine's Day, 1948, he married Barbara "Bobo" Paul.

Just after the Nixon summit a year ago, the Shanghai com- munique said "The Chinese gov- ernment firmly opposes any ac- tivities which aim at the crea- tion of 'one China, one Taiwan,' 'one-China, two governments,' 'two Chinas,' an 'independent Taiwan,' or advocate that 'the status of Taiwan remains to be determined.'"

But the Washington-Peking communique issued Thursday, announcing the liaison-offices agreement, made no mention of any concession by the United States in its support of Nationalist China.

And presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger told newsmen the United States will continue diplomatic relations with Tai- wan and will not at this time pull out any of the 9,000 U.S. troops stationed there.

Peking's price to countries seeking formal diplomatic relations has been abandonment of such relations with Taiwan. The Communist Chinese say theirs is the sole legal government of all China, including Taiwan.

Hurley WSCS Sets St. Patrick's Day Luncheon Date

The Women's Guild for Christian Service of the Hurley Reformed Church, Hurley, is sponsoring a "St. Patrick's Day" luncheon and card party to be held on Monday, March 12, at 11 a.m. in the Education Building, Main Street.

Mrs. Richard Ruth, Guild president, has appointed Mrs. Jack Lupton, Mrs. George Brown and Mrs. Frank L. Race as co-chairmen.

A St. Patrick's Day theme will be used with a home-cooked luncheon, followed by card games. The serving and greeting committee, headed by Mrs. James Woodard and Mrs. Harold Schadewald, will be attired in "Good Luck" clover emblem aprons. The dining room, emphasizing the green theme, will display niches of forsythia and pussywillow branches which will be on sale.

Awards will be given with Mrs. Jack Gill in charge. Babysitting will be provided at a nominal fee.

Mrs. Jack Lupton, Hurley, should be contacted for reservations before Friday, March 9.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
(c) 1973, Emily Post Institute, Inc.

Dear Mrs. Post:

My son dated a girl for two years. During this time he bought her everything you can name — even a cedar chest for her graduation. He also put his stereo tape-deck in her car to use.

My son left for the Navy in October and she promised to stay faithful and true to him. As it turned out, she didn't. When my son came home, he found her out with another boy. They called the relationship to an end. Now, should she return anything to him or not? I will always feel this girl was greedy and selfish and only used my son for what she could get. I am glad it is over because it was all one-sided anyway — hers.

Mrs. J. B.
Dear Mrs. B.:

The articles which your son gave to the girl as graduation gifts, birthday gifts, etc. are hers to keep. But anything which, in effect, he loaned her — such as his stereo tape-deck — should be returned to him. If he gave her an engagement ring, that should also be returned.

Dear Mrs. Post:
Could you furnish me with some little sayings to add to a plain "thank-you" card?

Len
Here are some "little sayings" to add to a thank-you card.

"How did you know that . . . is my favorite color. The scarf goes perfectly with my coat."

"The book has a place of honor on my desk — many thanks."

"Your check will certainly help us toward the new TV set we are saving for . . ."

"I really appreciate the golf balls. They are one thing you can never have enough of."

In short, any remark which mentions the specific gift (or act) and, if possible, mentions what you intend to do with it, is appropriate. You can always end up with a phrase like "Hope to see you soon," "Best to all the family," etc.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Daily Freeman.

COMMUNITY CONCERTS presented the Angelicum Orchestra of Milan in a concert Monday, Feb. 19 in Community Theatre. Backstage prior to the concert were (L-R) John McCullough, president, Community Concerts; Conductor Bruno Martinotti; Mrs. John McCullough, membership secretary for Community Concerts; and John Shults, board member. Described as "a flawless concert," the program was particularly heavy on baroque music. The Angelicum Orchestra was founded in 1941 for the purpose of encouraging a wider knowledge of Italian and foreign masterpieces with a particular emphasis on sacred music. Maestro Martinotti has been conductor of the orchestra since 1967 and with them he has participated in concert tours of Italy and Spain and made many recordings. With all this, he also finds time to teach at the Giuseppe Verdi Conservatory in Milan — a position he has held since 1961. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Kingstonian Conducts Symphony

Donald N. DeWitt of Kingston, a native of Kingston, will conduct the Finger Lakes Symphony Concert to be held Sunday, Feb. 25 in Palmyra. DeWitt is conductor of Wayne County Symphony Orchestra.

Eddie Meath, host of station WHEC Rochester, host of a daily two hour talk show, will be narrator for the Lincoln Portrait by Aaron Copland. Linda Radl, the featured artist, will play Mozart Horn Concerto in D. A graduate of Eastman School of Music, she has a degree in Performance. The Suzuki Strings from Victor will perform also.

A graduate of Kingston High School where he was the recipient of the Music Award, DeWitt represented Kingston at the U.S. Navy Band Concert at Newburgh while he was a KHS senior. Seven Mid-Hudson high schools participated. He also sang with KHS chours under the direction of Leonard Stein.

DeWitt played professionally for 10 years with Huntington, L.I. Symphony Orchestra as first chair clarinetist and for three seasons with the Stony Brook Symphony Orchestra.

He received his BA degree from Crane School of Music, State University of New York at Potsdam, and his MA degree, professional diploma, from Columbia University in New York where he has taken extensive doctoral studies.

DeWitt played three years with the U.S. Military Band at West Point. He taught bands and orchestras at Port Washington and Spring Valley Schools, and is now on the music faculty at Palmyra-Macedon Central School. He has had extensive experience throughout the state as adjudicator for the New York State Music Teachers Association.

He and his wife, a pianist, are both on the faculty of Blue Lake Fine Arts Summer Camp, affiliated with Michigan State University. They have three children: Rodd, Joel and Pamela, at home. His mother is Mrs. Theresa DeWitt of 112 TenBroeck Avenue, Kingston.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
Was just peeling some washed vegetables for soup. Whenever I peel potatoes, carrots — or any vegetables — I save all the peelings in a sealed plastic container until I have enough for a potful.

I add a small onion and salt to the lot and cook until they are done. I mix with the food for my dog and cat. They get all the vitamins from the peelings and the onion is great to help prevent worms.

Our vet says this is one reason we have a cat 16 years old and a dog that is 13. I hated to waste peelings anyway.

Marietta Everett
What you'll have to do when you no longer have your pets is to get others to take their place — or start a compost pile, to be spread on the grass for a beautiful lawn. Heloise

You'll have to try that new bacon that is now in the meat cases in some stores. The bacon is already cooked and all you have to do is just put it in the toaster and then serve.

Northern Dutchess BPW Reports on Its Activities

Northern Dutchess Business and Professional Women's Club held its dinner-meeting on February 20th at Foster's Coach House in Rhinebeck.

Mrs. Jeanette Betts Dodd, chairman of the legislative program, presented as her guest Warren H. McKeon, Regional Director for the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, Region 3. He showed slides of the Hudson River area and the problem spots and discussed what is being done to alleviate these problems. "It will require the help of everyone," he stated, "for we are all involved in the Environmental program." A question and answer period was held.

President Dorothy Marian discussed the Winter Board meeting she attended in January and her day at the UN.

It was announced that once again donations will be made to the following Rescue Squads: Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Rhinecliff, Staatsburg and Hyde Park.

A Nominating Committee was elected to include Chairman Eleanor Closs, Eleanor Keefe, C. Dorothy Brooke, Dorothy Mallon and Peg Hunt. They will select a slate of officers and present the names at the April meeting.

Mrs. Marian extended congratulations to member Louise Pavlovic, owner of the New Stretch and Sew Fabric Center Ulster Avenue Mall, Kingston.

The Spring District Meeting will be held April 21 at the Rockland Lake Manor, Congers, N.Y. Attending as delegates will be Edith Burke, C. Dorothy Brooke, Dorothy Mallon, and alternate Charlotte Weiss. Other members are urged to attend and may make reservations by contacting Mrs. Marian.

Jacqueline Costello Enroute to Jamaica

Miss Jacqueline Costello of Albany, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Costello of East Kingston, is en route to Kingston, Jamaica, with a group of 180 teachers.

A French teacher, Miss Costello teaches grades eight to 11 in Richmondville Central School, Richmondville, N.Y., and is studying Italian and Spanish at State University of New York at Albany.

MAD HATTER LUNCHEON — Making up some of the hats that will be seen at the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary's Mad Hatter luncheon March 6 at 12 o'clock in the social hall of Temple Emanuel are (L-R) Mrs. Frank Finnegan, co-chairman; Mrs. Francis Freudorfer, chairman of decorations; Mrs. Edward DeTemple, co-chairman; and Mrs. Frank Thompson Jr., tickets. All members are invited to show their new spring bonnets, homemade or store-bought, at the luncheon. Most original, funniest and other awards will be made. All proceeds from the noon luncheon will be used for the cardiovascular diagnostic laboratory. The Committee has announced a card party is also scheduled in conjunction with the luncheon. Reservations may be made through Feb. 28 by contacting any of the following: Mrs. Thomas Clancy, Mrs. John Cleveland, Kingston; and Mrs. Lawrence Brown of Woodstock. Public is invited. HVPS: All Russian Program

The first concert of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Spring Series, an all-Russian program, is slated to take place at 8:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 26, at Kingston Community Theatre. The program will consist of Rimsky-Korsakov's Capriccio Espagnol, op. 34, Tchaikovsky's Variations on a Rococo Theme for Cello; and Prokofiev's Symphony No. 5, Op. 100. The concert is also being given Saturday at Mt. St.

Mary College in Newburgh, and Sunday, Feb. 25, at Poughkeepsie High School. Curtain at 8:30 p.m.

Steven Doane, 1972 winner of HVP Young Artists Competition, will appear as guest artist. It has become a tradition having the YAC winner perform as soloist with the orchestra the season after he has won.

This year the Young Artist Competition which will bring together 17 contestants who represent a cross section from the finest music schools in the country, will take place on March 24 and 25 at Skinner Hall, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie.

The Competition is only one of the many educational projects sponsored by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic. To continue with these projects it is necessary to raise funds to support it.

During the week of March 5-8, the Philharmonic will sponsor "Operation Telefund." More than 6,000 people in Dutchess, Orange and Ulster Counties will be called in an effort to raise $30,000.

Don't Try Harder-- Give Up on Him!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a divorced man for two years now. He has a child by his ex-wife, and my problem is that he keeps reminding me in no uncertain terms that this child will always come first!

I just can't accept this. I don't think any woman could. We have had several very serious arguments over this. He tells me he loves me, then he quickly reminds me that his child will always come first. (This child lives with his ex-wife, but he has generous visitation rights.)

After he's had a few drinks he talks about marriage, and I think he really means it, but when it comes to setting a date, he has so many reasons why he has to wait.

There's only one big problem, Abby. I really love this man in spite of everything. So what should I do?

FOOLISH: Tell him your name isn't "Avis," and you don't intend to try harder because you're Number Two. I respect a divorced parent who considers his child, but the closest, most enduring relationship of all is the husband-wife relationship. Kiss the man goodbye before he beats you to it. He's trying to discourage you.

DEAR ABBY: The letter in your column about hunting prompts this letter. Hunting is a sport to which I am normally opposed. My husband knows my objections, but, since he is an adult, I realize that his decisions are his own, and it is with his own conscience he must wrestle. I don't participate in his hunting trips, and have no intentions of doing so.

The problem centers around our 12-year-old son. My husband wants to buy him a gun and introduce him to the sport. Our son, eager to participate in activities with his father, is excited by the prospect.

I don't feel that humans have the right to kill animals unless their lives are directly endangered, or unless they need the meat for survival. We are an upper-middle-class urban family, and neither of these situations is likely to occur.

My husband says that he wants our son to know the joy of our rapidly vanishing wilderness areas. I say, "Fine, take him camping and teach him the craft of the woodsman."

He claims he wants our son to know the challenge of stalking elusive game. I say, "Fine... let him stalk with a camera. And if he needs to have a trophy... bring home some pictures."

He says he wants our son to be skillful with a rifle. I don't mind that. We have access to an excellent skeet-shooting range and instructors.

Finally, and worst in my opinion, my husband says he wants our son to be a man, and that my refusal to sanction the hunting will turn him into a sissy.

Abby, to me a true man

(or woman) is one who rejoices in the beauty of life, who works hard to preserve all of that beauty, who respects mankind and all animals, and who kills only as a necessity and never for pleasure or sport.

Many of our traditional and superficial concepts of manhood and womanhood are being questioned these days, and I think that the question of hunting as a means of developing masculinity deserves being considered by more Americans.

ANIMAL LOVER: DEAR ANIMAL LOVER: Well said. But let's hear it from another animal lover:

DEAR ABBY: Those meat-eaters who throw a fit about harvesting wildlife have got to be some of the biggest hypocrites of all time.

Just where do they think beef, pork and mutton come from? Anybody who's raised a 4-H calf, or nursed along a runt pig or an orphan lamb knows that these animals are every bit as lovable as the majestic buck or graceful doe.

How much kinder is death from a hit on the head with a sledge hammer than from a bullet? All meat eaters are guilty.

In case you're wondering — yes, I eat meat. And no, I don't hunt. And yes, I love animals (present population, one dog, four cats, six horses, and one pig).

MRS. K. LA MOILLE, ILLINOIS

DEAR ABBY: How long should a couple wait to get married following a divorce? I have been divorced for three years, but the man I am going to marry has been divorced only a few months. We have known each other for a very long time and are both over forty. I am not talking about the amount of time it is considered "legal" to get married again. I mean how long should we wait to avoid gossip?

FLORIDIAN: DEAR FLORIDIAN: Go ahead and marry the man and don't worry about gossip. After all, a divorce isn't the same as a death. There is no "mourning" period when one loses a mate in the divorce court.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." (Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Bride's Necklace: Not long ago every bride wore a bride's necklace to her wedding. This was a graduated, princess length strand of cultured pearls.

Cultured Pearls: Cultured pearls still stand as the most appropriate jewels for the bride to wear.

GOP Women's Club Meeting in Red Hook

A dinner meeting of Red Hook Women's Republican Club will be held at Foster's Coach House, Rhinebeck, Tuesday, Feb. 27. There will be a social hour at 6:30 p.m. with dinner planned for 7:30.

Prior to the business meeting, Julian L. Cohan will speak about "No-Fault Insurance." Mr. Cohan, an insurance agent, broker and mutual funds representative, is director of research, joint legislative committee on insurance, and from 1966 to 1973 served as legislative assistant to Senator Bernard Gordon.

He is a Republican county committeeman, White Plains City Republican committeeman. He was involved with the "People for Nixon," was New York State chairman, and served as vice president, Association of New York State Republican Clubs. He was also vice president of the New York State Jaycees.

Among his special recognitions, is the White Plains Distinguished Service Award for Outstanding Community Service. He is listed in the Charter Edition of Outstanding Young Men of America, and twice recipient of the Community Service Award, presented by Nationwide Insurance Companies.

Mr. Cohan is married and has three children. Members planning to attend the dinner meeting are asked to make reservations with Mrs. John (Marie) Scorza of Rhinebeck.

Food Tips

Herb Vinegars

Herb vinegars are plain vinegars flavored with herbs. They are delicious used in salad dressings.

Re crisp Cookies

If cookies soften, they can usually be re crisped if placed in a 300-degree oven for about five minutes. Preheat the oven before adding the cookies.

To Flambe

To flambe means to sprinkle with brandy or a liqueur and ignite.

To Scald Milk

To scald milk means to heat the milk to just under the boiling point or until tiny bubbles appear around the edge.

Salting Meat

Don't add salt to meat until the meat is ready to cook because salt draws out juice from the meat.

UCCC Hosts Kingsborough and Suffolk in Finales

Knowles Edges Hay for Region XV's MVP

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

STONE RIDGE
Jackie Knowles, the field marshal for Ulster County Community College's Mid-Hudson Conference repeat champions, has been acclaimed the Most Valuable Player in Region XV in the annual all-star selections announced today.

Henry Nixon, the other co-captain for UCCC, was also named to the 10-player All Star team. Coleman Link, third member of Ulster's Big Three, was relegated to honorable mention.

Everybody on campus expected the designations, but Knowles' narrow margin of only two points—137 to 135—over Sullivan County's Mike Hay in the MVP balloting came as a surprise. This, notwithstanding the fact that Hay is currently the No. 5 scorer in the NJCAA with a 28.0 average.

JACKIE KNOWLES

Joining Knowles, Nixon and Hay on the first team were:

William Pearson, Manhattan
Mike Young, Westchester
Wade Pittman, Rockland
Larry Frazier, Rockland
Henry Kinsey, Farmingdale
Nestor Serrano, New York City

Sam Bain, FIT
Ed Davis of Westchester is first honorable mention.

Reaction to Link's lowly estate in the all-star selections was swift and predictable. "I'm very disappointed and the team is disappointed," said Coach Mike Perry. "I think it's strange that the No. 1 team in the region can't place its three veteran holdovers in the first 10 players."

Link, a brilliant performer as Ulster trounced Westchester with all the chips on the table Wednesday night, has scored 80 points in the last four games to raise his average from 14.1 to 15.1 per game. His board work has been outstanding. In his last four outings he scored 23 against Westchester, Post Junior (24), Rockland (10) and Queensborough 23.

The Senators will have to forget their disappointment about Link and maintain their momentum, as they face Kingsborough tonight at 8 o'clock and Suffolk Community in an unusual Saturday 3 p.m. contest in the Senate Gym. After that comes the regular season's finale Monday at Sullivan before the Region XV opener on Thursday, March 1.

Not much of a line is available on Kingsborough, but the Suffolk Clippers come to town with an unimpressive sounding but illusory 11-13 record and a lot of respect for Ulster.

"I selected Ulster No. 1 since the season started," said Coach Gene Farry. "There's no question in my mind that they're the best in the region. Our chances against them are hard to say. They've lost only one region game and we've lost 13."

Leading players on the Clippers squad are Stan Piminski with an 18.0 average, Rich Harmon (14) and Ray Valentine 20.0. Valentine, however, has played only the last half of the season. Harmon at 6.4 is the biggest man on the squad.

The list of honorable mention in alphabetical order: Ed Davis, W. John Dickson, SU; Bruce Frazier, W; William Graham, Kingsborough; Al Hall, W; Jerry Jackson, Nassau; Dan Jones, Greater Hartford; Bob Lake, Orange; Coleman Link, UCC; Joe Moore, FIT; Bruce Prescod, Concordia; William Pierre, Hostos; Steve Shell, Farmingdale; Mike Tarvin, Post; Keith Williams, Staten Island.

Rifenbary, Winrow Individual Winners

DCSL Swim Title to Kingston

POUGHKEEPSIE
With Jay Rifenbary and Bobby Winrow winning individual titles, Kingston High School's undefeated swimming team outclassed a field of seven schools to repeat as Dutchess County Scholastic League (DCSL) champions Thursday in the Poughkeepsie Middle School pool.

Coach Ron Gabriele's highly favored Maroons continued their relentless assault on the record books, as they finished their impressive performance with:

- 1) Their second straight DCSL crown.
- 2) Fourth straight league title.
- 3) Fifth league title in six years.
- 4) Finished regular season with 11-0 record.

The Mighty Maroons won DCSL League titles in 1968, 1970 and 1971 and Section Nine title in 1971. They continued their streak by grabbing the DCSL their first year in the league in 1972 and yesterday made it two in a row.

Kingston's 99 team points, built on four firsts, five seconds and four thirds, gave Coach Gabriele's charges a wide margin over runnersup Poughkeepsie and Our Lady of Lourdes, who tied for second with 58 points. Roy C. Ketcham of Wappingers was fourth with 24 points, followed by John Jay 16, Arlington 14 and Spackenkill 11.

In addition to the Rifenbary and Winrow solo titles, Kingston captured both relays, winning the 200-yard medley with Ann St. Denis, Mark Davis, Mike Arnold and Russ Voigtlaender. Making up the 400-yard free medley were Voigtlaender, John Shults, Rick Stiven and Kent St. John.

Rifenbary was clocked in 53.8 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle and Winrow took the 200 individual medley in 2:15.

Award Winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—George Foreman, who became the new world heavyweight champion by knocking out Joe Frazier in the second round on Jan. 22, was a near unanimous choice as the Hickok Award winner for the month of January.

Foreman received 146 of the 155 first place votes as he became the first winner in the 1973 balloting for the 24th annual S. Rae Hickok "Professional Athlete of the Year" Award.

Honored Guest

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe DiMaggio, who recently was chosen as baseball's greatest living player, will be the honored guest of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society here at its second annual Dinner of Champions on May 11.

The only double winner in the meet was Arlington's Kent Whitson, who was first in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard breaststroke.

"Against it was Kingston's winning the 200-medley and I've ever seen in the Mid-Hudson Valley."

The swim team is the first Kingston led from the outset the Kingston team as "the best title this year."

Bucks Nip Kings, 116-113

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—"We had a capacity home crowd on its feet much of the night. But the towering talents of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar with 27 points and Lucius Allen with 32 proved too much for the injury-plagued Kings."

That was Coach Bob Cousy's analysis after his Kansas City-Omaha Kings fell to the Milwaukee Bucks 116-113 in overtime Thursday night. The game closed out the series between the National Basketball Association clubs, with Milwaukee holding a 6-1 edge.

The Kings' Nate Archibald and Matt Guokas put together some back court magic that

It was the night's only game in the NBA. No games were scheduled in the American Basketball Association.

The Kings left the court at halftime to a standing ovation after an Archibald basket at the buzzer—that would have amazed Houdini—gave them a 59-55 lead.

Archibald's short jumper with two second left was off target, but the ball bounced back to him. He picked it up with his back to the basket, gave a little twist and shot off balance over his shoulder. The ball banked high off the backboard and spun into the hoop.

Red Foxes Shoot Down Hawks

POUGHKEEPSIE wheeling shooting exhibition, able to cope with Marist's gap and that was the ball game.

New Paltz State's victory, 115-92, fanned basketball Hawks Coach St. Pesayento was picked up two wins without notified earlier in the day that of lifting a finger before Thursday Oswego State and Buffalo State College at the Our Lady of Palms and other schools because Lourdes High School gym. But of the use of ineligible players, they lost the "real" game to The Hawks shot a brisk 48.8 percent in a free-per cent (35 for 72) but were un-explosive 63-point second half in the small shooting gallery. The Red Foxes hit on 49 of 104 for 47 per cent.

Glenn, Hudson led the Hawks with 29 points and freshman Gary Fisher stayed in the 20-plus range with 23 points. Mike Callaghan added 15.

Game honors went to Marist's top sharpshooter, Mike Hart, who shot 50 per cent from the field (14-28) for 33 points. Jim Martelli hit for 18. Jim Osika 14, Ed Conlin 12 and Al Fairhurst 11 to fatten the Marist total.

New Paltz led by as much as four points in the early going but the Red Foxes rallied to open up a 52-44 lead at the half.

Marist widened its margin to 14 points at the 16:45 mark and Hart, who hit 19 of his 33 points in the second half, clustered eight points in the next three minutes to open up a 23-point

Coach Ron Petro said the Marist strategy was to put pressure on the Hawk's Bob Lucas and Mike Callaghan.

Coach Pesayento attributed the New Paltz decline in the second half to an inordinate number of turnovers. "We couldn't contain their big men (Hart 6-5) and Martelli (6-7) when the chips were down," said the New Paltz coach.

ACTION AND REACTION: Golfer Gay Brewer acts and then reacts Thursday as a birdie putt misses the cup on the 8th hole during first round play of the Jackie Gleason Inverrary Golf Classic at Lauderhill, Fla. Brewer, playing the front nine last, was tied for the tournament lead with Forrest Fezler at 5-under-par. (UPI)

Fezler and Brewer Share Gleason Tie

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (UPI)—For a fellow who insisted that finding himself in the lead of the year's second richest golf tournament didn't faze him, Forrest Fezler sure didn't leave that impression.

The young Californian was a stroke ahead of the field with only three holes to play in Thursday's opening round of the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic.

His closest rival, veteran Gay Brewer, had already finished for the day so all Fezler had to do is play safe and the first round lead was his.

So what does he do? He plays too safe—and it costs him a double bogey, and the lead.

"I didn't want to go into the water so I decided to use a four wood," Fezler tried to explain. "The ball landed in the fairway, but bounced into the water."

"I took a drop and the ball wound up in the rough. I was still 165 yards from the pin but I obviously overclubbed as the ball sailed 30 feet over the green," Fezler got back one stroke with a birdie on the 17th hole.

Brewer, who has been playing better golf at age 40 than ever before, and Fezler both had 5-under-par 67s in Thursday's opening round of the Gleason Classic and went into today's second round two strokes ahead of Lee Trevino and Gibby Gilbert, the only other two in the 149-man field able to break 70 while battling unusual cold in the morning.

Brewer, who has won more than $33,000 so far this year, could take over the money lead by winning the $52,000 first prize being paid by the Gleason. The current money leader, Bruce Crampton ($75,000) withdrew Thursday after shooting a 5-over-par 77, saying he needed a rest.

Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer both have their work cut out for them. Nicklaus, the favorite just about every time he plays, missed a bundle of birdie putts Thursday and shot a 73 while Palmer, who noted he hadn't made a single birdie in three days, had a 74.

Defending champion Tom Weiskopf headed a list of six 71 shooters, making a total of only 11 golfers who were able to break par Thursday.

The Gleason field will be cut to the low 70 scorers (and ties for 70th place) at the end of today's second round.

Dionne's 3 Goals Tie the Canadiens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Detroit's Marcel Dionne got the Montreal Canadiens' triumph over the Vancouver Canucks.

The results left first-place Montreal seven points ahead of the idle New York Rangers in the East Division and fourth-place Buffalo four points in front of Detroit in the battle for the final playoff spot.

In the World Hockey Association, Philadelphia nipped Ottawa 6-5 and Houston downed Quebec 4-1.

Danny Lawson's 50th goal of the season with just under two minutes left in the third period gave Philadelphia its WHA victory over Ottawa. The triumph lifted the Blazers into third place in the East Division, one point ahead of the idle New York Raiders.

and Michel Plante also scoring. Plante's goal midway through the second period was disputed strongly by Ottawa.

It came after Philadelphia's Johnny McKenzie tangled with Ottawa's Guy Trotter along the boards. Although McKenzie was assessed a minor penalty, he managed to flip the puck out in front of the Ottawa net, where Plante fired it home. The referee first disallowed the goal and then changed his mind.

Gavin Kirk and Wayne Carleton scored twice each for the Nationals with Bob Charlebois getting the other Ottawa goal.

Third-period goals by Duke Harris, Keke Morrison and Ed Hoekstra gave the Houston Aeros their triumph over the Quebec Nordiques. Houston also regained second place in the West Division from Idaho O'Donoghue, Don Herriman Minnesota.

UCLA Tops Oregon for 67th Straight

By United Press International

Coach John Wooden is worried that his No. 1 ranked UCLA club doesn't have the killer instinct but the Bruins managed to leave Oregon for dead Thursday night.

After a tight first half, UCLA scored a pair of quick baskets and held Oregon to only four points in the first six minutes of the second half to cruise to a 72-61 victory at Eugene, Ore. The triumph was the 67th in a row for UCLA and boosted its record this season to 22-0.

UCLA led only 32-27 at the half but broke open the game after intermission. Oregon closed to within eight points at 43-35 with 12 minutes left but UCLA, with Bill Walton and Keith Wilkes leading the way, erupted on a 17-4 tear in the next five minutes and led 60-39 before Wooden pulled his starters with 7:03 left. The Ducks closed the margin against the Bruin subs.

Wilkes scored 18 points to lead the UCLA attack while Walton pulled down 20 rebounds. Freshman Ron Lee had 31 points for Oregon.

The young Ducks, who started only one senior, saw their record drop to 14-8 but remained in contention for second place and a possible National Invitation Tournament berth when Oregon State upended Southern California 82-66 at Corvallis, Ore. The loss dropped USC to 7-3 in the conference while Oregon and Oregon State are 6-4.

Sam Whitehead had 24 points to lead the Beaver attack while Gus Williams was high for USC with 17.

In other major college action Thursday night, eighth-ranked Providence crushed Assumption 107-87 at home, No. 10 Houston registered a 116-57 rout of Trinity at home, Memphis State (No. 11) clinched at least a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference title by beating North Texas State 93-88 at Denton, Tex., No. 12 New Mexico moved a step closer to the Western Athletic Conference title by scoring a 93-72 game with a 20-5 burst in the first half and cruised to their 20th victory in 22 games while Assumption's record dropped to 19-2.

Marvin Barnes had 29 points and 30 rebounds as Providence crushed Assumption, one of the nation's small college powers. The Friars broke open the game with a 20-5 burst in the first half and cruised to their 20th victory in 22 games while Assumption's record dropped to 19-2.

Dwight Jones had 24 points and Louis Dunbar 19 as Houston toyed with Trinity. Houston surged to a 40-16 lead over outmanned Trinity and led 62-35 at the half. The Cougars didn't let up in the second half, either, outscoring their opponents 62-22.

Larry Finch scored 37 points to lead Memphis State past North Texas. Finch has 10 straight points in the second half to break open the game. The victory was the 18th in the last 19 games for Memphis State and the 20th in 24 games this season.

Darryl Minniefield had 20 points to lead New Mexico over action. John Shumate's Colorado State points carried Notre Dame to a 61-55 upset before the Lobos pushed ahead with 10 minutes to go and went on a 25-8 tear to record their 21st victory in 24 games. Ulysses Bridgeman scored 17 points to lift Louisville over 87.

55-Year-Old Riggs Challenges Billie

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Okay, so Bobby Riggs may have lost a step here and there on the court and maybe his serve does have a bit of a kink in it, but all of a sudden he has emerged as the top tennis figure in the world.

As far as every red-blooded man is concerned, anyway, Bobby Riggs, who is 55 and still plays a great game of tennis, stood up on his own two feet in San Diego and simply said what most other men are thinking.

He said Women's Lib is plumb full of crumb. Especially when women want to talk about "equality" in tennis. Bobby Riggs didn't hold back at all. He gave it to the girls, but good.

Then he challenged all the top women players. Billie Jean King, Rosemary Casals, Margaret Court Smith, Chris Evert, Yvonne Goolagong, Nancy Kitchey Gunter, all of them. He also put his money where his mouth is by coming up with a certified $5,000 check which he's willing to risk in a winner-take-all match against any one of them.

Bobby Riggs says "no woman ever lived who could compete with a man on an equal basis— even a 55-year-old man, there's a lot of talk about Women's Lib. They feel they're worth as much as the guys, but they can't play a lick if they can't beat a 55-year-old guy."

One thing about Bobby Riggs: he pays off like a slot machine.

"There's no question about that," says Hans Wichary, head pro at the Valley Tennis Club in San Diego and one of Riggs' closest friends.

"Nobody has to worry about the money with him," says Wichary. "He's got it, and if he beats you and you beat him, he pays right away. I saw him lose $1,335 in one day not so long ago, and he paid up immediately. In cash. He's completely serious about this latest offer. He's tired of hearing Billie Jean King and some of these others mouthing off all the time about Women's Lib."

Bobby Riggs, who was quite a tennis player in his day, always has loved a challenge. And he's bet at the drop of a tennis racquet. The crazier he's willing to risk in a winner-take-all match against any one of them.

"I remember seeing him wearing an overcoat once and carrying a suitcase in one hand while he was on the tennis court," says another acquaintance of his here. "He bet $100 he'd still beat this other guy, and he did."

Hans Wichary is pretty close to Riggs now, and he thinks Riggs has a 50-50 chance of winning that $5,000 if he can get one of those top 10-12 sets a day. He'll start at 10 in the morning and still be going 10:30 at night under the lights. I guarantee you one thing, he's no pigeon."

That's undoubtedly true. But I can guarantee Bobby Riggs another thing.

He's foot-faulting when he says "no woman ever lived who could compete with a man on an equal basis."

Did he ever see the late Babe Didrikson Zaharias?

Marv Miller Heads West

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Baseball contract talks took a respite today while Marvin Miller held the first in a series of sectional briefings with major leaguers in a move to sample the mood of ballplayers.

Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, said he would give West Coast players "an optimistic view" of the meetings with team owners before returning to New York tonight to meet with management again Saturday.

Miller flew to Los Angeles Thursday after spending two hours with the owners' top negotiator, John Gaherin. According to a source close to the talks, Miller hopes to get a picture of the players' feelings at the gathering before heading east for the seventh set of negotiations in eight days.

The briefing is the first of seven, the next set for Monday in Chicago.

If no agreement is reached before March 9 the meetings with players will continue. It was reported that if the stalemate continues after that date, players will be polled to see if they will strike for the second time in as many seasons.

The players association executive board last Friday called for a resumption of negotiations on three-year contracts on the so-called Basic Agreement over active player-owner relations and the pension and benefit plans.

Arbitration of individual contracts and the reserve clause remained the stickiest issues. Under player contracts, spring training officially opens March 1 and the association said it would consider it a lock-out if training camps do not open then.

Kingston Hosts Beacon

Dukes Need Win to Clinch

By IRA FUSFELD

KINGSTON The possibilities are easy enough to figure:

— If Marlboro High School can win at Coleman tonight, the Dukes will have clinched the Ulster County Athletic League's Southern Division basketball South and the right to face Liberty in the championship game March 2 at Pine Bush.

— If Marlboro loses, and if Ellenville downs Highland, the Dukes and the Ellies tie for first and meet Tuesday on a neutral court for the Southern crown.

And while that is being settled, three other UCAI games and three DCSL encounters will fill up tonight's schedule.

In the UCAI North, Rondout is at Wallkill, New Paltz visits Pine Bush and Liberty entertains Onteora.

Kingston High hosts Beacon in the Kate Walton Field House in what will be the Maroons' final game unless they somehow get a Section One bid. Elsewhere in the DCSL, Lourdes is at Poughkeepsie and Roosevelt plays host to Ketcham.

Coleman is all that separates Marlboro and Ellenville not only because the Dukes play the Statesmen tonight, but also since the one extra defeat in question was Coleman's beating of the Ellies.

Marlboro and Ellenville split two games, and both lost to Liberty. But Coleman avenged a road loss by topping Ellenville in the return match. Now it's the Dukes' turn to visit the tiny pressure-cooker the Statesmen call home.

Marlboro handled Coleman with relative ease when the teams met earlier this month. The Dukes were particularly effective on the backboards with Mike Moriello, Jim Pagano, and Denny Pesavento keeping the Statesmen at bay.

Coleman also didn't have an especially strong shooting game the first time around.

Obviously, good shooting is a must if Coleman is to make up for lack of size. Right now, Duane Carey leads the club in rebounding, and he's only 5-11.

Since losing to Highland in what now looks like the most costly defeat of the season, Coleman has been strong in stopping Ellenville and Red Hook. Marlboro could be in for some trouble tonight.

If so, Ellenville had better beat Highland. And that won't be easy at Highland, especially since the Big Blue has been bolstered by the return of Clyde Napier, a forward who missed the first half of the season.

At stake in the other UCAI games is second place and last place in the North. Rondout and Onteora each are 6-8, but the Ganders' final game is against lowly Wallkill while Onteora will be playing Liberty, a team anxious to get back at the Boiceville team for an early season upset.

New Paltz and Pine Bush meet with the loser assured of at least a tie for last.

As for Kingston, the Maroons have gone into a two-game tailspin just when it looked like they were going to make the .500 mark. But with losses to Ketcham and Arlington behind them, the best the KHS players can do is finish 8-8 in the league and 8-10 overall.

Tonight's task is formidable what with Beacon coming to town already having clinched the league title and striving for a perfect season. Only Kingston and Poughkeepsie stand in the way.

Kingston will have only eight to make the bus to Arlington. The four, Ray Gay, Kim Anderson, Tony Lindsay, and Carl Brown, were suspended by coach Mike Rienzo.

Rienzo will start Walt be comprised of Dave Decker, Houghtaling, Tom Turco, Chuck Bill Caddin, and Art Shelighner. Fred Jackson has a wrist injury and John Dawson left the team last week.

OCS Hosts Section 9 Matmen

BOICEVILLE the annual Section Nine District will advance to the Section Nine tournament set for March 3 at Monroeville. Winners at the sectional go to the State

Windham Ski Team Surprises Fallsburgh

WINDHAM Windham Central School's newly organized ski team stunned mighty Fallsburgh this week.

The Sullivan County Comets, who had compiled a 12-1 record this year, 25-2 over the past two seasons, were beaten by Windham's boys, 273.34 to 282.84.

Bill Dill of Fallsburgh was first in 55.18, but then Windham swept the next four spots. Leading the way was Eric Goetsche, followed by Ken Lane, Bob Sheridan, and Chris Chase.

Johnson Leads Winston-Salem

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (UPI)—Veteran Don Johnson of Akron, Ohio, moved into today's semifinal round of the $90,000 Winston-Salem Bowling Classic with a 63-pin lead.

Johnson, winner of 20 tournaments on the Professional Bowling Association tour, won six of his first eight match play games Thursday to build a 6,110 total ending today's pair of eight-game sets.

Second was Earl Anthony of Tacoma, Wash., at 6,047, with Don Helling of St. Louis posting 6,020, Butch Gearhart of Houston, Tex., rolling 6,010 and Mark Roth of Brooklyn, N.Y., rounding out the top five at 5,995.

Qualifying leader John Handegard of Eugene, Ore., who finished the first 18 games with a 227 average, slipped to 13th place with a 5,885.

The field of 24, slashed by eliminations from 160, will be reduced to five for the nationally televised final round Saturday afternoon.

We've decided to call ourselves what you have been calling us all along.

The Bank

You tell your friends you'll meet them for lunch after you go to the bank. Your secretary says she'll be right back, she just has to go to the bank. Almost everybody calls us the bank. So we made it official. From now on The Kingston Trust Company will be The Bank.

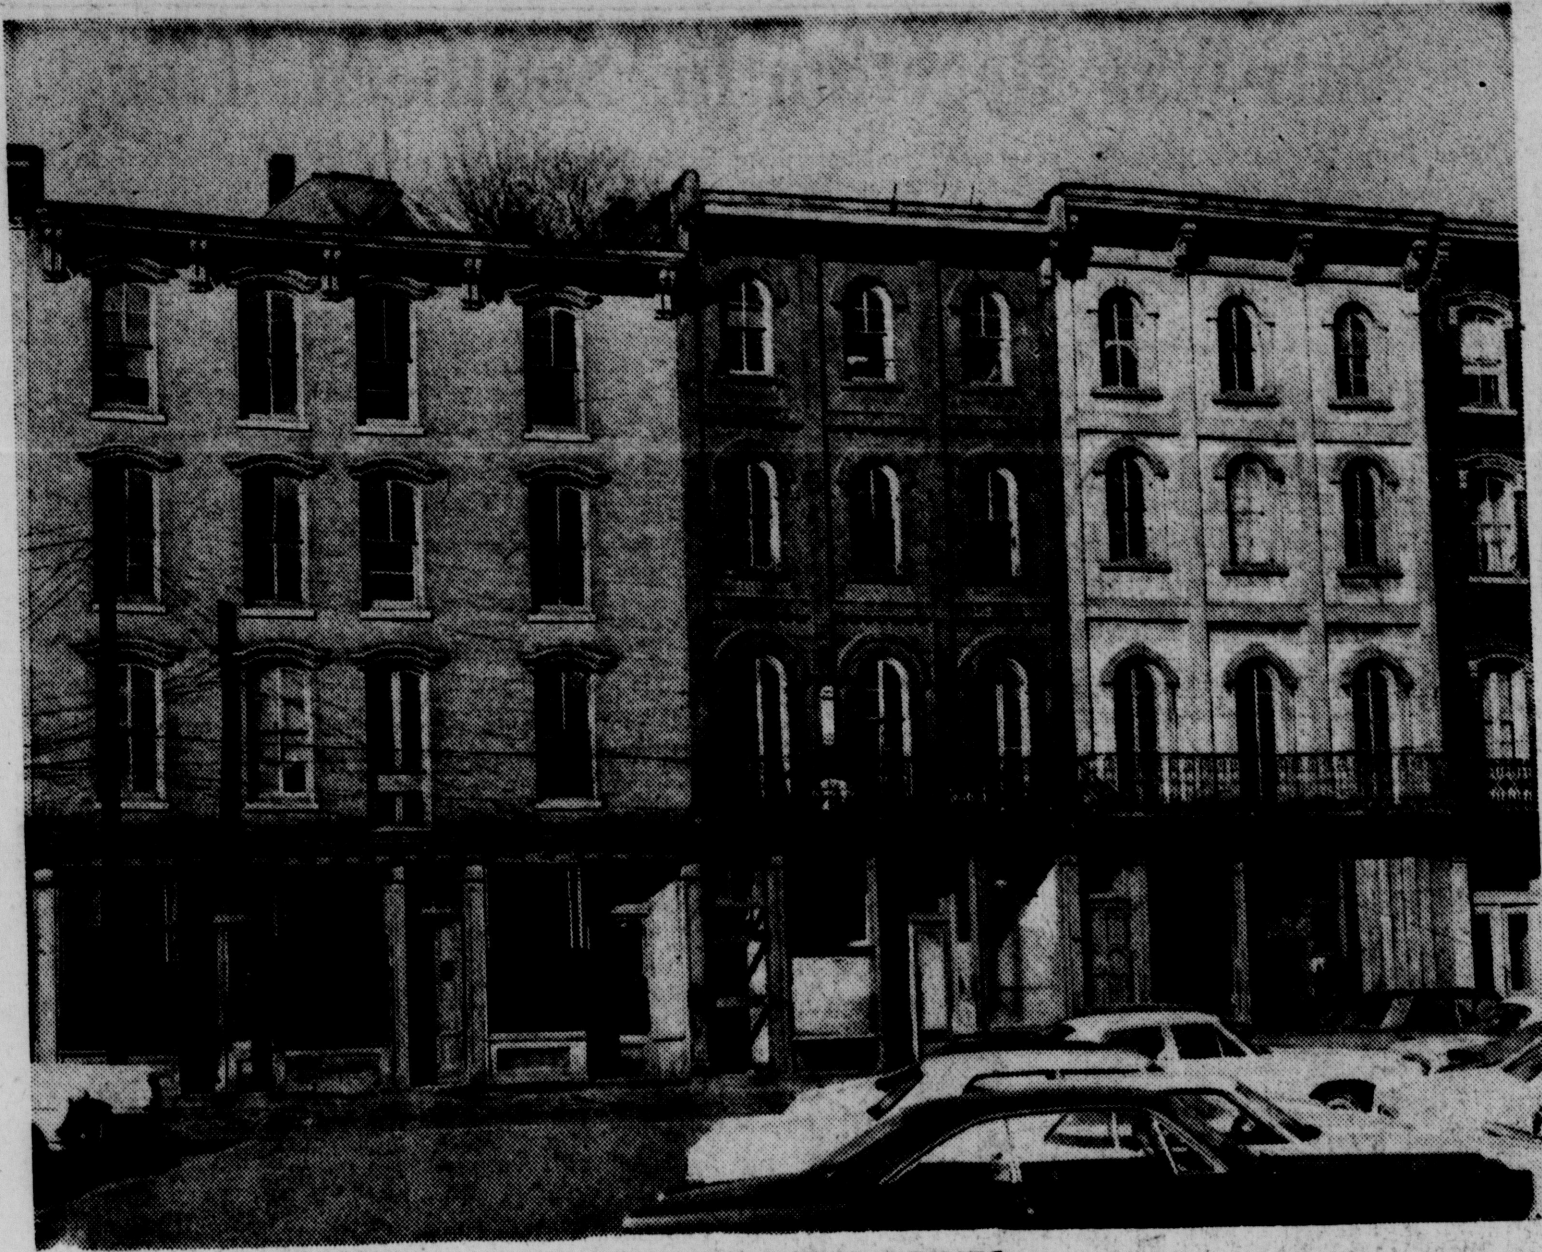

But even though our name's been changed, our service stays the same. Friendly, helpful and most of all, personalized.

Better yet, since we're now part of First Commercial Banks, we're affiliated with more than a hundred offices all over Northeastern New York. So it's easy to bank where you live or where you travel.

Personalized service, convenient locations. After all, you made The Kingston Trust Company what we are today. The Bank.

Three Plane Crash Survivors Followed High Power Lines

PALENTVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—Three survivors of a plane crash which killed one man say they followed power lines to civilization when their single-engine craft went down in dense Catskill Mountain woodlands near this Greene County community.

State police Thursday night identified the dead man as Albert Rudolph, 45, of New York City. The injured included the pilot, Rodney D. Bauman, 35, of New York, and two other passengers, Stuart Perrin, 30, of Denton, Texas, and Mimi Shore, 36, of New York.

Troopers said the wreckage of the Cessna-172 was spotted near North Lake, between here and Hunter, and a ground party was sent to the scene. In the meantime, the three survivors had walked out of the woods and reported the accident. They told police the crash had occurred Wednesday night and they thought the fourth member of their party was dead.

They had made their way to safety by sighting high tension lines in the area where the plane crashed, and following them downhill until they came to a house where they called for help. Troopers said Federal Aviation Administration officials would conduct a thorough investigation, but a preliminary report indicated heavy fog in the mountainous terrain may have caused the mishap. The plane was en route from Teterboro, N.J., to Glens Falls at the time. Bauman and Perrin were released after treatment at Greene County Hospital in Catskill, and the Shore woman was admitted for treatment of fractures. She was not listed in serious condition. Rudolph lived at 88 E. 10 St.; Bauman lives at 304 W. 18 St.; and the Shore woman at 220 W. 21 St. No street address was listed for Perrin.

Tivoli Police Justice Aids Building

An expedient move on the part of Tivoli Police Justice Joseph Graham has opened the way for the continuation of building homes by Meadowcrest Homes on Woods Road. A misdemeanor charge had been filed against the developers of homes on the former Tivoli Acres property because of alleged failure to comply with the zoning law in procuring permits prior to building. The charge was dropped by Judge Graham this week with a stipulation that the owners cease building until the law has been complied with. Attorney Thomas Frost termed the ruling "an intelligent solution, a help to the builder, developer, and the village."

The village has made no secret of the fact that it is encouraging development of several parts that have promise for residential growth. The five or six homes at present Meadowcrest 50 acres was bought from the village in order that such development might take place. Meadowcrest has built about

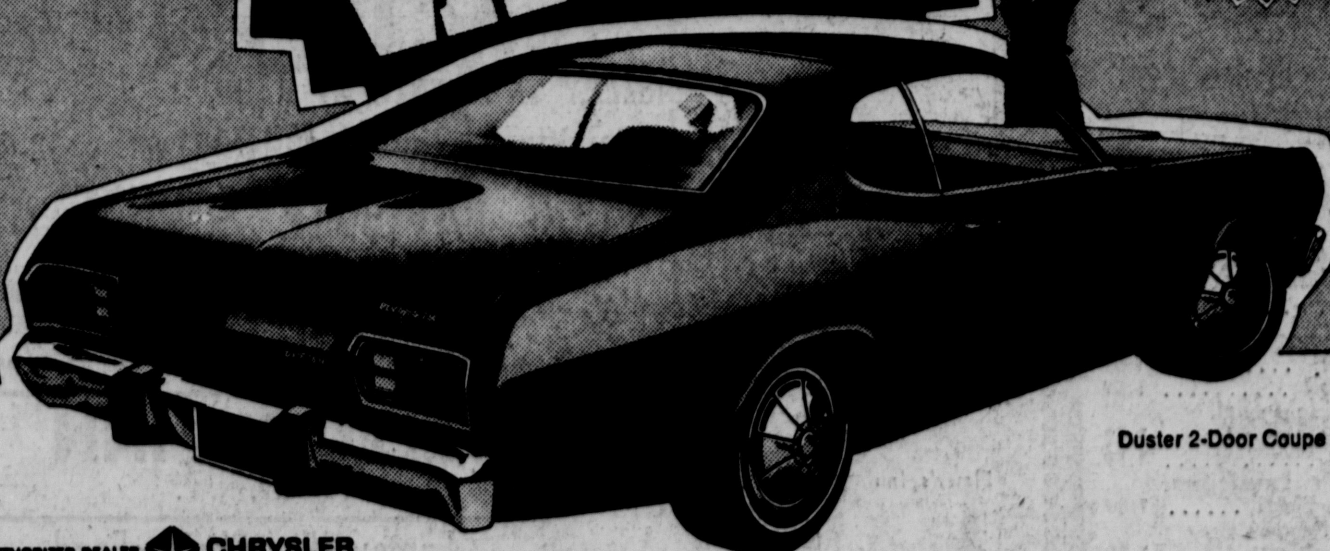

The charge was filed by Joel Ciancanelli, zoning enforcement officer for the village. Some development is also anticipated on the remaining 40 acres of the former Tivoli Acres, still owned by the village. Some local builders have expressed an interest in developing the land for residential use.

During the meeting, Logan said he could understand the Republicans' opposition to him since he is an outspoken Democrat, but that the other incumbent candidate, Trustee O. Lincoln Igou, was a "genuine independent."

Logan said at the meeting that he had preserved his independence by never registering with either party. The village and town boards in New Paltz have been at odds over the past few years, and Mrs. Karsten, who is seeking to be New Paltz first woman trustee, and Bogie both stressed a desire for increased cooperation between the two boards. Bogie pledged to act more quickly and be more responsive to community needs than village trustees had been in the past. Mrs. Karsten spoke for more town-village cooperation, and cited the emergency communications center and the recreation program as examples of cooperation that had worked. Igou, running on his record, said his time on the board had given him greater insight into the "intricacies" of government. He said he always sought to preserve an open mind, listening to all sides, but did not necessarily make his decisions in favor of the "louder voice."

Anti-War Reaction In Southern Tier

By United Press International
Almost two-thirds of Southern Tier residents polled oppose any further involvement by the U.S. in the Vietnam War, even if it means letting the South Vietnamese government collapse,

according to a survey underwritten by three upstate New York newspapers.
The poll was conducted by Decision Research Corp. of Wellesley, Mass., for the Bing-

hamton Sun-Bulletin, the Elmira
Star - Gazette and the Ithaca
Journal. It was taken by telephone between Feb. 7 and 11,
and involved 650 residents of a 10-county area 19 years of age or older.

The survey showed that 63
per cent of those polled favor
no American involvement whatsoever should the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong break
the current cease - fire agreement and threaten to overrun
South Vietnam.

Some 15 per cent said they would support sending arms
and money in such a situation, 13 per cent said they would go along with a resumption of the bombing of the North, and 7 per cent said they would be willing to send American combat troops back to Vietnam.

In a story on the results of the poll, the Sun-Bulletin said
residents of the Southern Tier seem, possibly, to be even more set against sending U.S. troops
back than the population
nationally. It said a nationwide

Gallup poll conducted in late January found 13 per cent in favor of sending U.S. troops to help South Vietnam if North Vietnam attempted to take over the South. It noted, however,
that an exact comparison was not possible because the wording of the question was not identical in the two polls.

Opinion on the question of renewed Vietnamese involvement tended to be relatively uniform throughout the region,
except in Chemung County,
where Elmira is located. There,
reaction against any involvement seemed to be slightly less than elsewhere. Even in Chemung County, however,
fully half the residents were reluctant to have the U. S.
commit itself in any way in Vietnam again.

The survey encompassed the counties of Broome, Chemung,
Chenango, Schuyler, Steuben,
Tioga, Tompkins and Yates in
New York, and the neighboring counties of Bradford and Tioga
in Pennsylvania.

Irish Army Seeks More U.S. Money

BELFAST (UPI) — Political

sources said today that the Irish Republican Army obtained perhaps $1 million last year from American admirers to buy weapons. They said the IRA hoped to raise a similar amount this year.

"They need that much to stay in business," one source said.
"The IRA must pay their gunmen just like any organization that wants fulltime workers."

The sources said the United States is the IRA's major source of funds. "Let there be no doubt about that," one said.
"The money they raise in the Irish Republic is minute by comparison."

The statements coincided with publication today of a book by a former woman IRA member who alleged that Sen.
Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has helped IRA leaders enter the United States to collect funds.

(In Washington, a spokesman for Kennedy denied the allegation.)

Miss Maria McGuire, who said she defected from the extremist Provisional wing of the IRA last fall, said Kennedy was contacted if an IRA man met difficulty in acquiring an American visa.

"A phone call from Kennedy's office to the American Embassy in Dublin would result," she said, "and all difficulties would magically disappear."

The political sources said
Boston was one of the major sources of IRA funds with New York and several other big East Coast cities high on the list.

The sources said much of the money raised in the United States was collected by an organization known as the Irish Northern Aid Committee under the pretext that it would help Roman Catholics in the provinces. But they said there is no evidence any of the money was used for that purpose.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is excellent for going after what you want, speaking your piece directly, yet in a kindly and subtle manner. As the day wanes there are some difficult planetary positions which makes it advisable to be tactful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contacting out-of-towners and obtaining data you need is fine in the morning. Decide on those new outlets you have in mind. Avoid discussing serious matters with anyone in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A day to be with closest tie in the morning and have a happy and profitable time. Important responsibilities should be handled early as possible. Evening is fine for charming talk with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can come to a better understanding with associates today than has been possible for some time. One who has become a friend. Have a good time tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Engage in projects that bring you progress today and then take health treatments you need in the afternoon. Make effort to improve your wardrobe so that you gain more confidence.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A fine day for recreation. You can easily rebuild your energies and elevate your consciousness. You have a particular skill that should be put to use. Avoid arguments with anyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Any duties at home should be handled during the day. The evening should be spent reading and relaxing. Try to please kin graciously. Use tact with one who is demanding. Keep calm.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to accomplish a great deal where errands and appointments are concerned, so get an early start and persevere. Talk to those who are expert in a hobby you like and get advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan what must be done to add value, beauty and comfort to your property and then start wheels in motion. Go to a business expert for the advice you need. Follow it very carefully and wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make arrangements to entertain good friends. Discuss philosophical matters and exchange ideas while stating your own aims. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan to contact the right people so that you can get the help to make your fondest dreams come true. An expert will give you confidential advice so go after it. Don't waste time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a good friend who can be of great assistance to you, so accept help graciously. Attend a group affair and deepen friendships that appeal to you. Dress in good taste.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are outside affairs that need your attention early, so get busy and straighten them out properly. Later buy whatever you need the most. Don't overtax your energies. Relax tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those ambitious young people who wants to make a mark in the world, but has to overcome a natural shyness in the nature to be successful. Be sure to have many young playmates around who can help to build your progeny's ego. Teach early not to monopolize the conversation for best results. The field of imports and exports is fine. Foreign languages are good.

WHY WE SAY

KNUCKLE UNDER

MARBLES: If you "knuckle under" to demands, you give in to them. The term is well known to school boys who play marbles. In tense situations an opponent in the game will say "knuckles down" to the shooter who complies by putting his knuckles on the ground when shooting.

Of course laughter's the best medicine: haven't you noticed how jolly most doctors are?

Jean Adams'

TEEN FORUM

SELFISH SISTER: (Q.) I despise my sister. She is 9 years old and is very selfish and unfair. She is a crybaby. She whines when she doesn't get her way.

She doesn't give a hoot about anybody but herself. All she wants is to have everything her way. I have reached the point where I could kill her.

Recently she got a kitten. We both love him dearly. But just because it's her kitten, nobody else can touch him. Every time I just pick him up, she takes him away from me. What can I do about my sister and her kitten?—Mad in Maryland.

(A.) First of all, be patient. Many 9-year-olds have not yet learned that the world is here for everyone—not just them.

The world is a very good teacher, though, and your sister will learn soon that stepping on others can cause pain.

Do not go to your parents and complain about your sister. Instead, if a pet is really what you want, ask them to get you one.

When they say you can play with your sister's kitten, explain to them exactly what is going on.

They need to know what is going on, but informing them indirectly will make a stronger impression on them.

HANDY SANDY: (Q.) I have known Sandy since we were in grade school. We are in the eleventh grade now. We have always told each other everything but something has come up that I haven't been able to talk to her about.

She is getting a reputation. She likes boys and isn't too careful about what she does with them. The result is that she dates one boy after another. (The boys sort of pass her around. I think.)

I hope you won't think I'm jealous, or anything. I have a boy friend I love very much. He knows about Sandy but isn't interested in dating her. We just both dislike the idea of her getting hurt. But what can I say to her?—Reluctant in Rhode Island.

Do not be surprised if the talk costs you her friendship. If it helps her to be more discriminating it will be worth it.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Hungarian Paul Lukacs, who now lives in Tel Aviv, has long been famous for his single

Your problem is to find a way to be sure to make your four-spade contract irrespective of what the defense does or where their cards are.

In the actual setup there is no problem. You know where the queen of clubs is and can always finesse against it.

This type of problem is known as a single dummy problem and there is a catch here. The king and queen of hearts are just excess baggage.

Your play is to win the trump lead in dummy; ruff a heart; enter dummy with a second trump and ruff the last heart.

Now you lead a low diamond. East wins and must lead a diamond back. Play low. Sooner or later an opponent is going to have to lead a heart and give you a ruff and discard or lead a club and solve your finessing problems.

Anti-War Reaction In Southern Tier

By United Press International
Almost two-thirds of Southern Tier residents polled oppose any further involvement by the U.S.
in the Vietnam War, even if it means letting the South Vietnamese government collapse,

according to a survey underwritten by three upstate New York newspapers.
The poll was conducted by Decision Research Corp. of Wellesley, Mass., for the Bing-

hamton Sun-Bulletin, the Elmira
Star - Gazette and the Ithaca
Journal. It was taken by telephone between Feb. 7 and 11,
and involved 650 residents of a 10-county area 19 years of age
or older.

The survey showed that 65
per cent of those polled favor
no American involvement whatsoever should the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong break

the current cease-fire agreement and threaten to overrun
South Vietnam.

Some 15 per cent said they would support sending arms
and money in such a situation,
along with a resumption of the
bombing of the North, and 7
per cent said they would be willing to send American combat troops back to Vietnam.

In a story on the results of the poll, the Sun-Bulletin said
residents of the Southern Tier
seem, possibly, to be even more
set against sending U.S. troops
back than the population
nationally. It said a nationwide

Gallup poll conducted in late January found 13 per cent in favor of sending U.S. troops to
help South Vietnam if North Vietnam attempted to take over the South. It noted, however,
that an exact comparison was
not possible because the wording of the question was not identical in the two polls.

Opinion on the question of
renewed Vietnamese involvement tended to be relatively
uniform throughout the region,
except in Chemung County,
where Elmira is located. There,
reaction against any involvement seemed to be slightly less than elsewhere. Even in Chemung County, however,
fully half the residents were
reluctant to have the U. S.
commit itself in any way in Vietnam again.

The survey encompassed the counties of Broome, Chemung,
Chenango, Schuyler, Steuben,
Tioga, Tompkins and Yates in
New York, and the neighboring counties of Bradford and Tioga
in Pennsylvania.

Consultant Chen Gives His Views

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A state senator Thursday called consultant Jack Chen a "Maoist propagandist" and the leader of a citizens' group said Chen's political views might "taint" a Chinese-studies curriculum he is helping to develop for the state Education Department.

Chen was the focus of a meeting staged by Sen. James Donovan, R-Utica, at which Donovan, several of his constituents and reporters questioned Chen about his views. After another private meeting with Chen, Sen. Fred Eckert, R-Greece, issued a press release saying: "It is just as foolish to permit a Maoist propagandist like Jack Chen to develop programs for very impressionable young school children as it would be to permit a Nazi to design programs for teaching our youngsters about Adolf Hitler and the Third Reich."

Mrs. Barbara Crane of New Hartford, president of the National Confidence Committee of

Oneida County, said Chen had been a member of the British Communist party, which he acknowledged, and expressed fear that his views would be allowed to "taint" school programs.

Chen, a native of Trinidad who lived and worked in China from 1950 to 1971, doesn't hide his sympathy with the policies of the Chinese government. But he denies being a member of the Chinese Communist party and insists he is only trying to encourage understanding between the United States and China.

Arthur Osteen, head of the Education Department's international studies program, said at the meeting in Donovan's office that Chen was hired to present "the other side" of a view of China that he said traditionally has been presented in the U.S. by anti-Communist sources.

He said Chen's work will be reviewed by other scholars and the new curriculum will not be forced on any school district.

Patrolmen Thwart Burglary Attempt

NEW PALTZ — Two New Palitz Village patrolmen thwarted what was said to have been an attempted double burglary Thursday night when they nabbed a Staten Island youth following a chase on foot.

Arrested on charge of criminal mischief fourth degree was Robert George Devine, 19. The youth reportedly received cuts which required stitches as he climbed through a window attempting to escape, police said. Patrolman Anthony Oneto arrested him.

The alleged attempted burglaries occurred at approximately 10:30 p.m. There has been no report of anything taken, according to Chief Bowers.

Arraigned before New Palitz Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Devine was remanded to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail pending a re-arrest later today.

The alleged attempted burglaries occurred at approximately 10:30 p.m. There has been no report of anything taken, according to Chief Bowers.

Your Horoscope

Saturday, February 24

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime is excellent for going after what you want, speaking your piece directly, yet in a kindly and subtle manner. As the day wanes there are some difficult planetary positions which makes it advisable to be tactful.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contacting out-of-town friends and obtaining data you need is fine in the morning. Decide on those new outlets you have in mind. Avoid discussing serious matters with anyone in the evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A day to be with closest tie in the morning and have a happy and profitable time. Important responsibilities should be handled early as possible. Evening is fine for charming talk with mate.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can come to a better understanding with associates today than has been possible for some time. One who has been an opponent could now become a friend. Have a good time tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Engage in projects that bring you progress today and then take health treatments you need in the afternoon. Make effort to improve your wardrobe so that you gain more confidence.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A fine day for recreation. You can easily rebuild your energies and elevate your consciousness. You have a particular skill that should be put to use. Avoid arguments with anyone.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Any duties at home should be handled during the day. The evening should be spent reading and relaxing. Try to please kin graciously. Use tact with one who is demanding. Keep calm.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You are able to accomplish a great deal where errands and appointments are concerned, so get an early start and persevere. Talk to those who are expert in a hobby you like and get advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan what must be done to add value, beauty and comfort to your property and then start wheels in motion. Go to a business expert for the advice you need. Follow it very carefully and wisely.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make arrangements to entertain good friends. Discuss philosophical matters and exchange ideas while stating your own aims. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan to contact the right people so that you can get the help to make your fondest dreams come true. An expert will give you confidential advice so go after it. Don't waste time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have a good friend who can be of great assistance to you, so accept help graciously. Attend a group affair and deepen friendships that appeal to you. Dress in good taste.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) There are outside affairs that need your attention early, so get busy and straighten them out properly. Later buy whatever you need the most. Don't overtax your energies. Relax tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those ambitious young people who wants to make a mark in the world, but has to overcome a natural shyness in the nature to be successful. Be sure to have many young playmates around who can help to build your progeny's ego. Teach early not to monopolize the conversation for best results. The field of imports and exports is fine. Foreign languages are good.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for March is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 629, Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

WHY WE SAY

KNUCKLE UNDER

MARBLES: If you "knuckle under" to demands, you give in to them. The term is well known to school-boys who play marbles. In tense situations an opponent in the game will say "knuckles down" to the shooter who complies by putting his knuckles on the ground when shooting.

Of course laughter's the best medicine: haven't you noticed how jolly most doctors are?

Yes, Gwendolyn, you might say that a miser is a sort of dough nut.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SELFISH SISTER: (Q.) I despise my sister. She is 9 years old and is very selfish and unfair. She is a crybaby. She whines when she doesn't get her way.

She doesn't give a hoot about anybody but herself. All she wants is to have everything her way. I have reached the point where I could kill her.

Recently she got a kitten. We both love him dearly. But just because it's her kitten, nobody else can touch him. Every time I just pick him up, she takes him away from me. What can I do about my sister and her kitten?—Mad in Maryland.

(A.) First of all, be patient. Many 9-year-olds have not yet learned that the world is here for everyone—not just them.

The world is a very good teacher, though, and your sister will learn soon that stepping on others can cause pain.

Do not go to your parents and complain about your sister. Instead, if a pet is really what you want, ask them to get you one.

When they say you can play with your sister's kitten, explain to them exactly what is going on.

They need to know what is going on, but informing them indirectly will make a stronger impression on them.

HANDY SANDY: (Q.) I have known Sandy since we were in grade school. We are in the eleventh grade now. We have always told each other everything but something has come up that I haven't been able to talk to her about.

She is getting a reputation. She likes boys and isn't too careful about what she does with them. The result is that she dates one boy after another. (The boys sort of pass her around, I think.)

I hope you won't think I'm jealous, or anything. I have a boy friend I love very much. He knows about Sandy but isn't interested in dating her. We just both dislike the idea of her getting hurt. But what can I say to her?—Reluctant in Rhode Island.

Do not be surprised if the talk costs you her friendship. If it helps her to be more discriminating it will be worth it.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions and comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

By Oswald and James Jacoby
Hungarian Paul Lukacs, who now lives in Tel Aviv, has long been famous for his single dummy problems. Today's hand is printed by courtesy of the Bridge World magazine.

Your problem is to find a way to be sure to make your four-spade contract irrespective of what the defense does or where their cards are.

In the actual setup there is no problem. You know where the queen of clubs is and can always finesse against it.

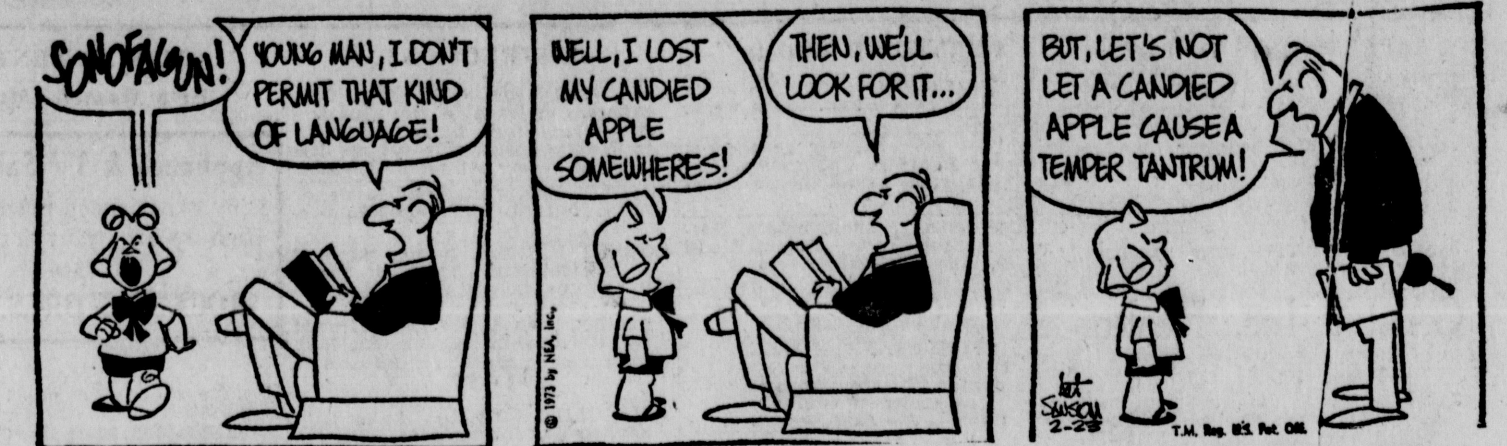

This type of problem is known as a single dummy problem and there is a catch here. The king and queen of hearts are just excess baggage.

Your play is to win the trump lead in dummy; ruff a heart; enter dummy with a second trump and ruff the last heart.

Now you lead a low diamond. East wins and must lead a diamond back. Play low. Sooner or later an opponent is going to have to lead a heart and give you a ruff and discard or lead a club and solve your finessing problems.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Tim Holt died the other day, and, to a movie buff or veteran watcher of motion picture reruns on television, his name immediately brings to mind the indelible impression he made in one particular acting role.

Holt appeared in many movies, and was a Western star, but he had the role of a lifetime in one of the best films of all time, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," and he made the most of it. His costars in this classic were Humphrey Bogart and Walter Huston, and, to this day, watching them work together is a sublime pleasure.

Some actors appear in countless movies and leave no lasting impression of themselves, either as performers or as human beings. And then there is the actor who seems to have been born for a great role given him, and with a single performance implants himself in our minds. We react with a glow, an admiration, a sense of elation, when we think of him in this particular part.

And that is how it is when one thinks of Holt in "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre." We recollect how, in a way, for gold along with Huston and Bogart, his self-questioning evolved when things got rough and tough and nasty, and how the treasure he really mined from the experience was his sense of personal discovery that allowed him to keep his perspective and, eventually, to survive.

Huston was the voice of judgment and, in a way, prophecy in his keen assessment of his two companions, and the simple but worldwide philosophy of his outlook. His occasional comic flights were deceptive and laced with bite. Bogart, if not an outright villain, was the weaker side of human nature. Holt was Everyman at the crossing, a person

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The largest denomination of U.S. currency now being issued is the $100 bill. Issuance of currency in denominations of $2, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000 has been discontinued because their use declined sharply in the past two decades. The World Almanac notes. As large bills reach the Federal Reserve banks they are turned over to the U.S. Treasury for destruction while good $2 bills are re-circulated.

Post-Truce Fighting Continues

Peace-Keeping Duties Delayed

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist officials held up an international team's peace-keeping duties again today with each side refusing to investigate charges of cease-fire violations filed by the other.

The refusals were the latest in a series of procedural wrangles bedeviling the four-party Joint Military Commission, composed of U.S., Viet Cong and North and South Vietnamese officers, since its first meeting more than three weeks ago.

In that time, only two investigations have been launched and neither has been completed.

Meanwhile, in continuing post-truce fighting, Saigon reported 148 Communist cease-fire violations in the 24 hours ending at noon today, 20 more than the figure Thursday.

In the latest fighting, Saigon command spokesmen said 19 Communists were killed and 11 government troops wounded Thursday near Ba To northwest of Sa Huynh. The spokesmen also said 26 Communists died and two government rangers were wounded in fighting in Pleiku Province in the Central Highlands. The spokesmen said that since the cease-fire, 9,394 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed, including 136 civilians, 1,389 South Vietnamese soldiers and 7,869 Communist troops.

In the truce wrangling, one commission investigation was meant to discover which side violated the cease-fire at the fishing village of Sa Huynh on the Central Coast. The commission team sent there Wednesday has yet to make a joint investigation. Its Communist members said Thursday they had not received written instructions to proceed.

Similarly, the Americans say the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong members of an investigating team probing the shooting down of a U.S. helicopter a week ago near An Loc only glanced at the wreckage and declined to talk with its five injured crew members.

In turn, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong said Saigon aircraft strafed the Communist-held airfield at Duc Co on Monday, causing many casualties.

The air raid, the Communists said, came less than two hours after they had listed Duc Co as a point of entry for arms replacements and supplies as required by terms of the Jan. 28 Vietnam truce.

U.S. delegation chief Maj. Gen. Gilbert H. Woodward said in a letter today to Viet Cong delegation chief Lt. Gen. Tran Van Tra: "Your charges of cease-fire violations at Duc Co, if true, are very serious."

"However," it went on, "recent experience has shown there is little to be gained from forming FPJMC (Four-Party Joint Military Commission) team when these teams are later obstructed from conducting investigations."

"There have been several incidents in the past few days that have been equally serious and equally urgent as he Duc Co incident."

One of them, Woodward said, was the downing of the U.S. helicopter.

frighted villagers hiding in trenches along each side of the road. Spokesmen quoted an old Cambodian commanders described the situation there as "desperate."

The fighting destroyed hundreds of homes, including several entire villages, in the 12-day Communist siege with U.S. and Cambodian jet fighters hammering the area daily.

Heavy Casualties in Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — guerrillas who cut Highway 1 linking Phnom Penh and Saigon earlier this month.

The Khmer Rouge battalions abandoned their positions along Highway 1 shortly afterward and moved west toward Highway 2, the sources said, but 250 Khmer Rouge were left well behind in the last official war in Southeast Asia. Western military sources said about 2,000 Communist fighters along until late Thursday when they abandoned their positions.

Military sources said losses were high on both the government and Communist sides but gave no casualty figures.

At Siem Reap, 12 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2, wounded soldiers and villagers took refuge in bunkers when Khmer Rouge heavy artillery bombardments there shattered the market center.

Cambodian troops later found seven families of sick and

Premier Souvanna Cites Violations

VIENTIANE (UPI) — Premier Souvanna Phouma said today he will ask the United States to resume bombing missions in Laos if Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas continue to violate a one-day-old cease-fire agreement. The truce officially took effect at midnight Wednesday EST.

"I am certainly sure that the United States will respond positively to the request for resumption of the bombing," Souvanna told a news conference. "We cannot tolerate being trampled."

"I have no comment on this," a U.S. Embassy spokesman said.

A Pathet Lao spokesman said the Communists were "sincerely" adhering to the cease-fire agreement.

Souvanna also pledged that Laotian forces—with U.S. air support—would take back positions he said his forces lost after the cease-fire came into effect.

"The resumption of the U.S. bombing (would be) the result of the other side's provocations," Souvanna said. "Since the cease-fire agreement went into effect there have been 29 recorded violations throughout the kingdom. About 90 per cent of the violations have been committed by foreign troops."

Military sources said U.S. air strikes were halted when the cease-fire took effect.
